STEVE BRIDGFORD

Steve
It's been a kind of
fun. You got a few parties wasted at see you
rides later
home.
Storm

Steve you drunkard,
Econ has been pure... well you know
We finally made it through school
now all we have to do is remember it, but who cares. This summer will be one big PARTY. We will definitely have to get together later. Good luck at Miami, I will have to come and see you.

Cal Sparrow

Steve,
I hope I see you
next year. I'm going to come. I'll visit
L. So I'll see you there. I can't wait. I wish I could have to know
you better.
Love,
Andy

Steve - Economics was really good job in and everything. Right now Cindy's father is really treating me out.
It's been nice sharing
at her apartment all year. Good luck at Miami of O. next year. Take care!

Steve,
The year has gone by really quickly. I wish I'd gotten a chance to know you better. It's hard getting to know someone when you just see them during passing periods. Oh well, that's life! Good luck
with everything in life.
Take care.
Love,
Barb Stark

Well babe its over & it was great! i want to thank you for helping me at the beginning of this year. you are truly a unique person who i admire & respect very much.
i can remember back to when you were dating Marshq and how much you two were in love i knew then you had to be something special (i mean Marshq won't settle for 2nd at anything) you really helped me at a time when i had nothing and that was really needed, remember the airport and that foot-bal practice and i still have that card. well steve is all over all the great memories, spec, track, dances, parties, girls, ect..... and im glad you were one of mine. with love, Allison Fleenor Fleemy

Great wife rabbit runner;
Well, this yr. is finally over. I thought it'd never end. I guess
we all had a good time in Babony though we never got Mr Cobb to eat brownies -
So have fun next yr. i don't do anything i wouldn't do -
Take it easy.
But take it

The greater and wiser, (anyway you can get it)

Pinky Balmain

Steve
well, we finally did it!
It's about time. I hope you'll come and visit me next year! Don't forget good ol' Spec. That was pretty fun.
I hope you keep up the good work in track.
(Don't party so much and you might do a little better.) Have fun always and take care of yourself. (Found any term papers lately?)
Well, I'll miss you have always,

BELOW Students arrive at the school's west doors ready for another day's work.

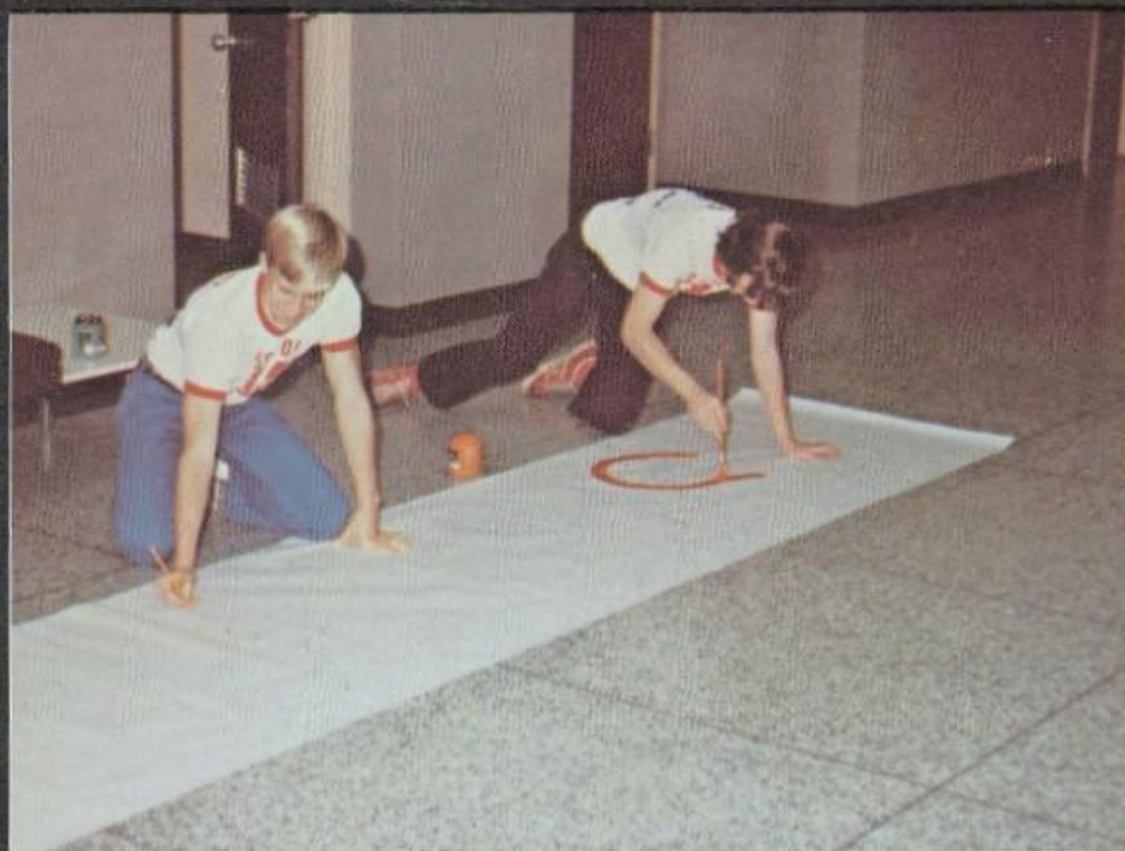

A crowd is like a circus. I can see polka dots and stripes; clowns that are happy; clowns that are sad; the ringleader; and of course, the spectators.

Colors—red, blue, yellow, pink, orange, purple, green. I see patterns—stripes, plaids, checks, flowers. A crowd is colorful just like the circus.

There's a clown in every crowd, whether happy or sad. But the clown doesn't need to wear make-up to show his emotions. Look at his face; his eyes.

Look closely and you, too, can see the crowd's circus characters.

"Why are you just sitting there? Are you mad about something?"

"Nope."

I really like to just sit here and listen to the crowd's muffled conversations. The sound is only a rumble of voices.

Now, as I walk through the halls, I can hear bits and pieces of conversations . . .

"I wish this wasn't Monday."

"Did he call?"

"Can you believe he's giving a test on Monday?"

"I was so embarrassed!"

PANIC — I can feel it. Everyone is nervous, scared. A fight in the student center! Excitement, relief, coldness, drowsiness — All feelings of a crowd.

Temperature — a physical feeling? In the summer the air-conditioner turns everyone into popsicles. By winter, the heat comes on, melting everybody.

Crowds at N.C. are unusually quiet on Mondays, when everyone is exhausted from the weekend. By Wednesday, excitement begins to build for basketball games and parties. Friday — BOOM! Excitement, relief, and great expectations for the weekend.

The Mighty

"I can hardly wait to get out of this hole . . . There's never anything to do around here . . . Just wait 'til I get to college."

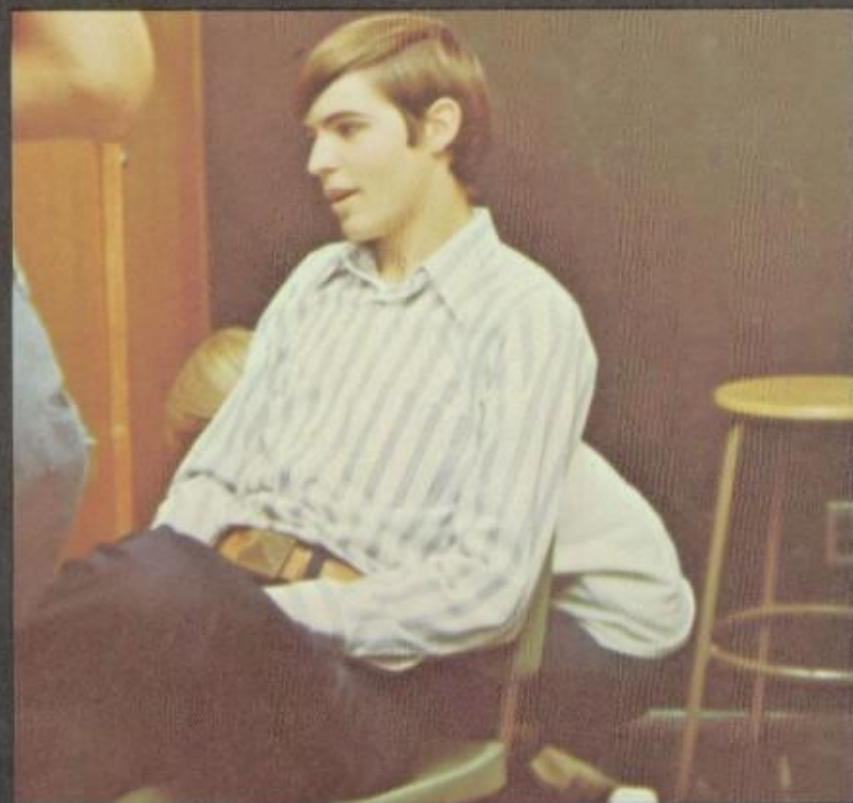

It goes on and on. I don't understand how people can complain about nothing to do, and then, in the same breath, make their wild weekend plans. Football games, bonfires, parties, and more parties . . . Vacations, concerts, and more parties.

Some of my friends are so busy on the weekends that their parents probably forget what they look like. Sometimes my own weekends are so hectic that there's not even time for sleep. But, when you're having a good time, who needs sleep?

A NEW BEGINNING

RIGHT: "Ernie Lyons has the ball, ten more yards . . . TOUCHDOWN! Great blocking by Roger Cogswell." Spring Saturdays are best for flag football.

Spring is the time of the year when grizzly bears and students come out of winter hibernation. The sun starts to warm the earth; the trees bud; the flowers bloom; and the grass grows green again.

People begin stretching their stiff and unused muscles. They start exercising slowly with some frisbee throwing and badminton. Puddle-jumping and walking in the rain are basic early spring activities that loosen those winter muscles. Gradually the students increase to such feats as bike riding and even jogging.

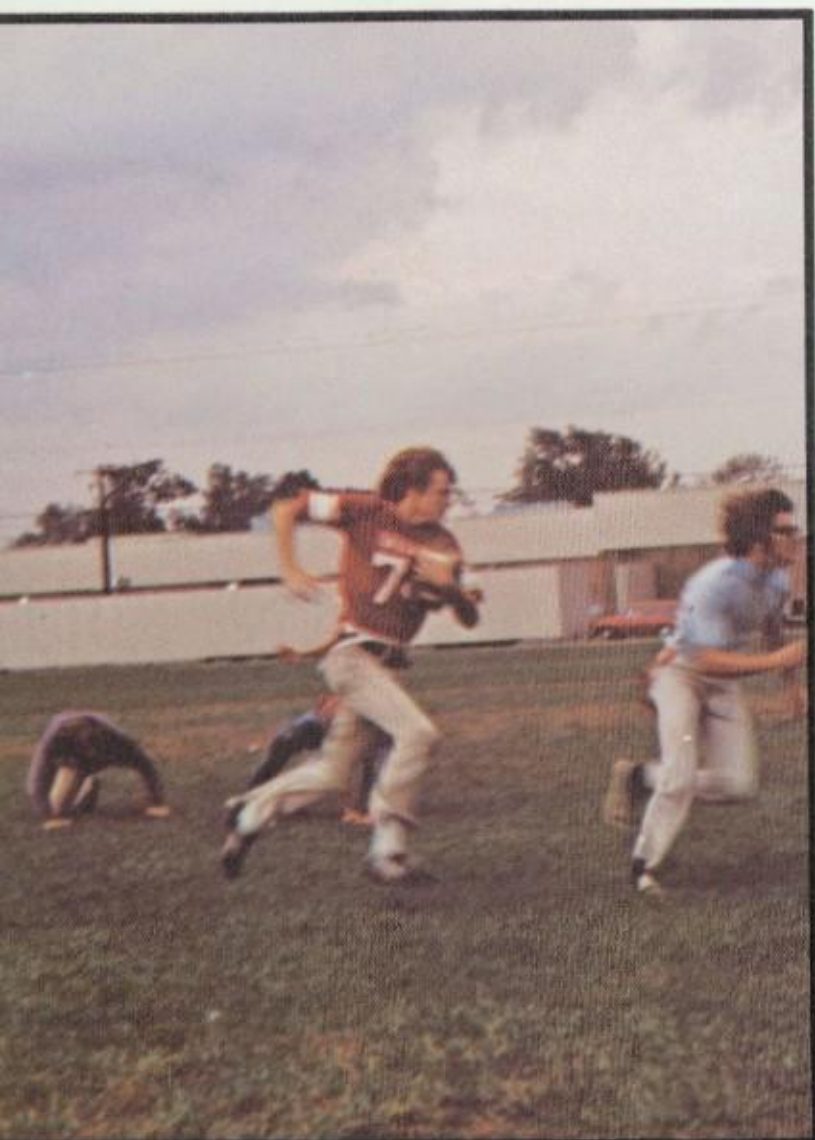

Dancing kites in a brisk wind are a common sight. In several areas of the district, planting the early crops is a major chore. Some students repair tree houses for the summer ahead. Mothers get everyone busy with thorough house cleanings — from the attics to the basements.

Spring is traditionally a season of new and renewed love. It is a new beginning!

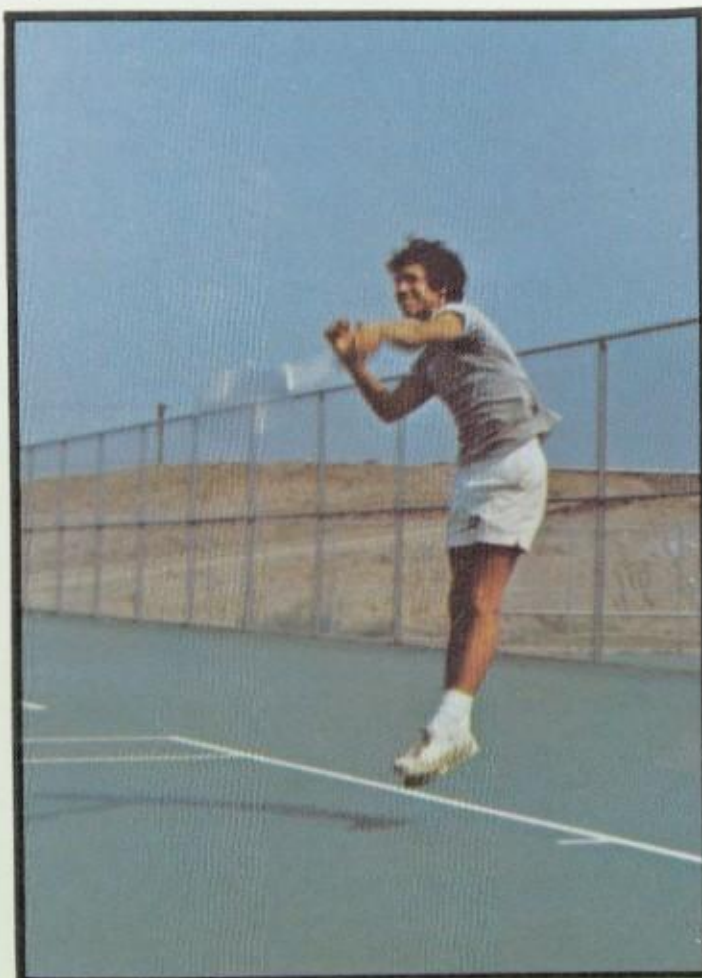

ABOVE: Ann Palmer and Cathy Gautchat, juniors, are resting up after a hard day of tests. They find the lawn by the gym a perfect place to sack out.

BELOW: Smash! Senior Jamie Gates makes a tremendous serve with perfect style on the new tennis courts.

ABOVE: "You've got to jump Dave, look at me!" Jeff Coates and Dave Scheele, seniors, fight it out for their frisbee in their extra time during lunch.

LEFT: Senior Connie Hamilton loves to ride her bike to school. She says, "It's fun and good exercise. I like to get up in the morning and ride."

SPRING

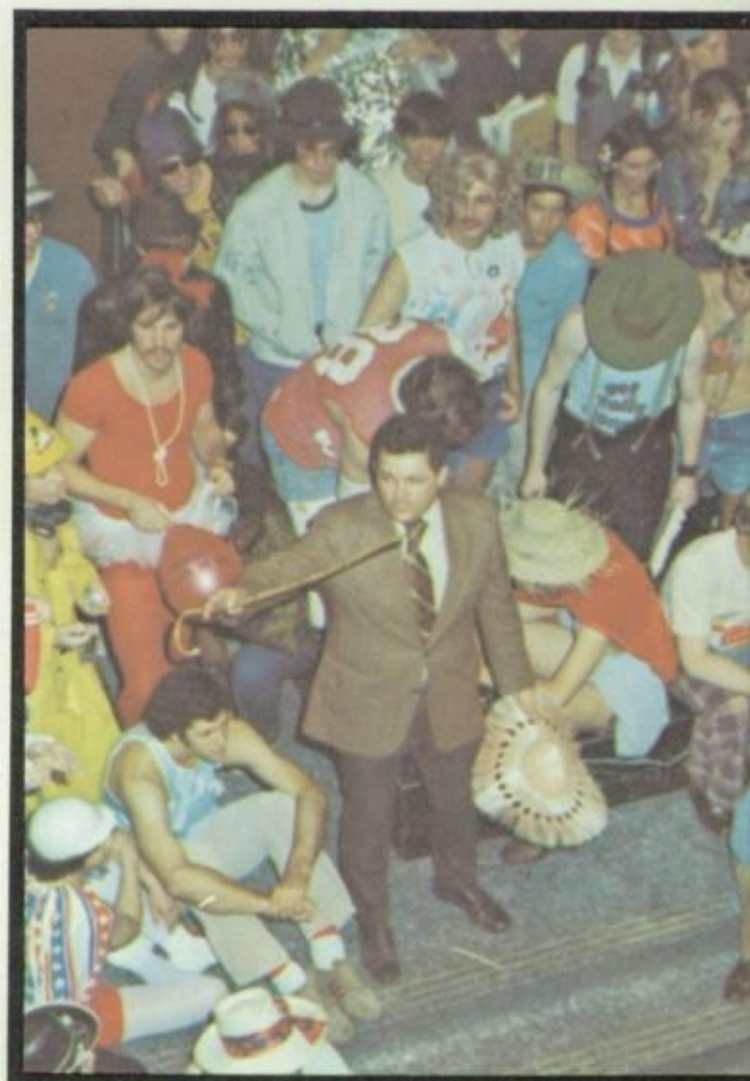

RIGHT: Beverly Bruce is the featured ballerina, dancing with the Girls' Ensemble during the Spring Arts Festival.

Bang! They're off! The pack of trikes is rounding the last curve—the winners of the 1973 Trike Race are Johnson's Jocks! Two days later, May 5, the juniors dressed up for their annual Junior Prom, "Prelude to a Rainbow."

"Godspell," "Pippin," and "Just an Old Fashioned Love Song" were only three of eighteen songs heard at the Spring Fine Arts Festival. A capacity crowd enjoyed hearing the works of all the musical groups.

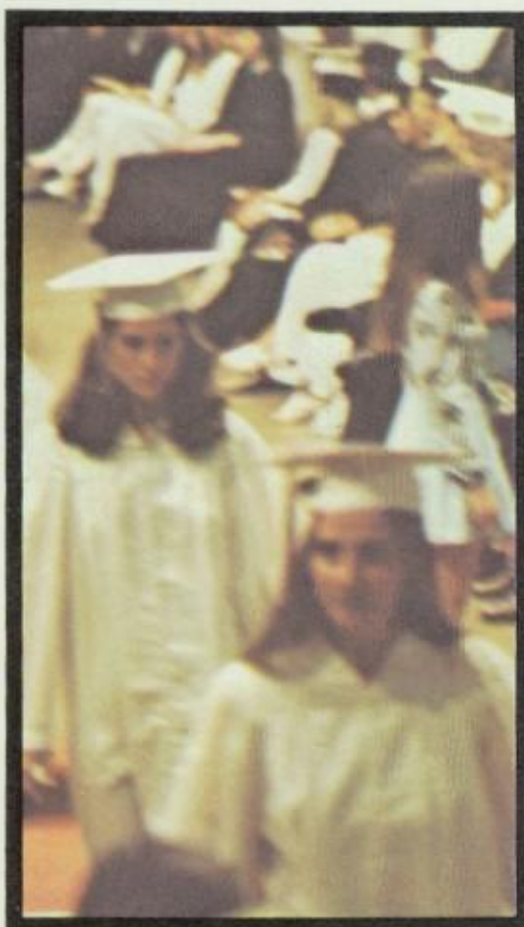

Four nuns, a pair of dice, siamese twins, a floor skier, and Alice Cooper arrived at 8:30 a.m., May 24th to take part in Senior Slop Day. This was the last contribution by the seniors of '73 before graduation. Their high school days ended June 5 at Commencement in the Coliseum.

ABOVE: "It's no use Mr. Walker, we won't go to class! We're the seniors of '73!" Senior Slop Day is still the most exciting day, like a Spring Halloween.

According to Coach Bradley, the 1973 baseball season has been the most unusual season in the team's history. Having 15 games rained out in one season almost made baseball an underwater sport.

After completing all but one of the rescheduled games, the varsity team finished with 17 wins and 7 losses. The diamondmen also acquired the county championship by defeating Pike, Speedway and Lawrence Central, respectively, in the county competition.

The reserve squad completed the season with 8 wins and 8 losses.

RIGHT: Sue Ratzel is one of many employed at the newly opened Lazarus in Castleton Square. Sue's job is to solicit new charge accounts.

BELOW: Even with a gas shortage, Brian Mitchell, senior, keeps very busy at the Wake-Up service station in Nora. He has to work in rain or shine, gas or no gas.

SUMMER

"I work all summer to make enough money to last me at least through Christmas; hopefully until next summer."

Everyone has his own opinion of an ideal job. Some feel an inside job where there is air-conditioning is a perfect way to beat the heat. The opening of Castleton offered a tremendous number of indoor jobs. Other students enjoy working outside. Life-guarding and corn detasseling were two popular outdoor jobs.

"I like working at the zoo because I love animals." The zoo and Humane Society are good places for volunteer work.

Summertime does not mean three months of free time anymore.

LEFT: "Oh, no, it's no trouble at all to get those pants down, I'll get the ladder." That's Cindy Steinmetz, senior, working at Gemini in Glendale.

BELOW: All that Randy Milender, senior, sees all day is legs and feet. He sells shoes, socks, shoe polish, etc. at Regal Shoes in Castleton Square.

LEFT: Lori Herfurth, junior, feels Just Pants in Castleton is a good place to work because most of the customers are teenagers.

"An average day consists of sleeping until at least noon, then going down to the swimming pool." What is accomplished at the pool? Girls try to get as tan as possible "for the guys," and "guys watch the girls."

Another student said his "average summer day" was spent cutting grass. "That stupid grass just keeps growing. I wish I could invent something to make it stop."

Summer is a great time to head for the water. Some students swim, some just wade, some sail, some water ski, and some go on canoe trips. Several students even go scuba diving.

When younger, students might have played marbles, tiddly-winks, kickball, and swung on swings. Now, they can go horseback riding, go-carting, or backpacking.

Summer offers many, many things to do, and best of all, NO SCHOOL!

RIGHT: What do guys do in the summer? Of course, mow lawns, as Eric Jansen, senior, is doing. The more Eric mows, the faster it grows.

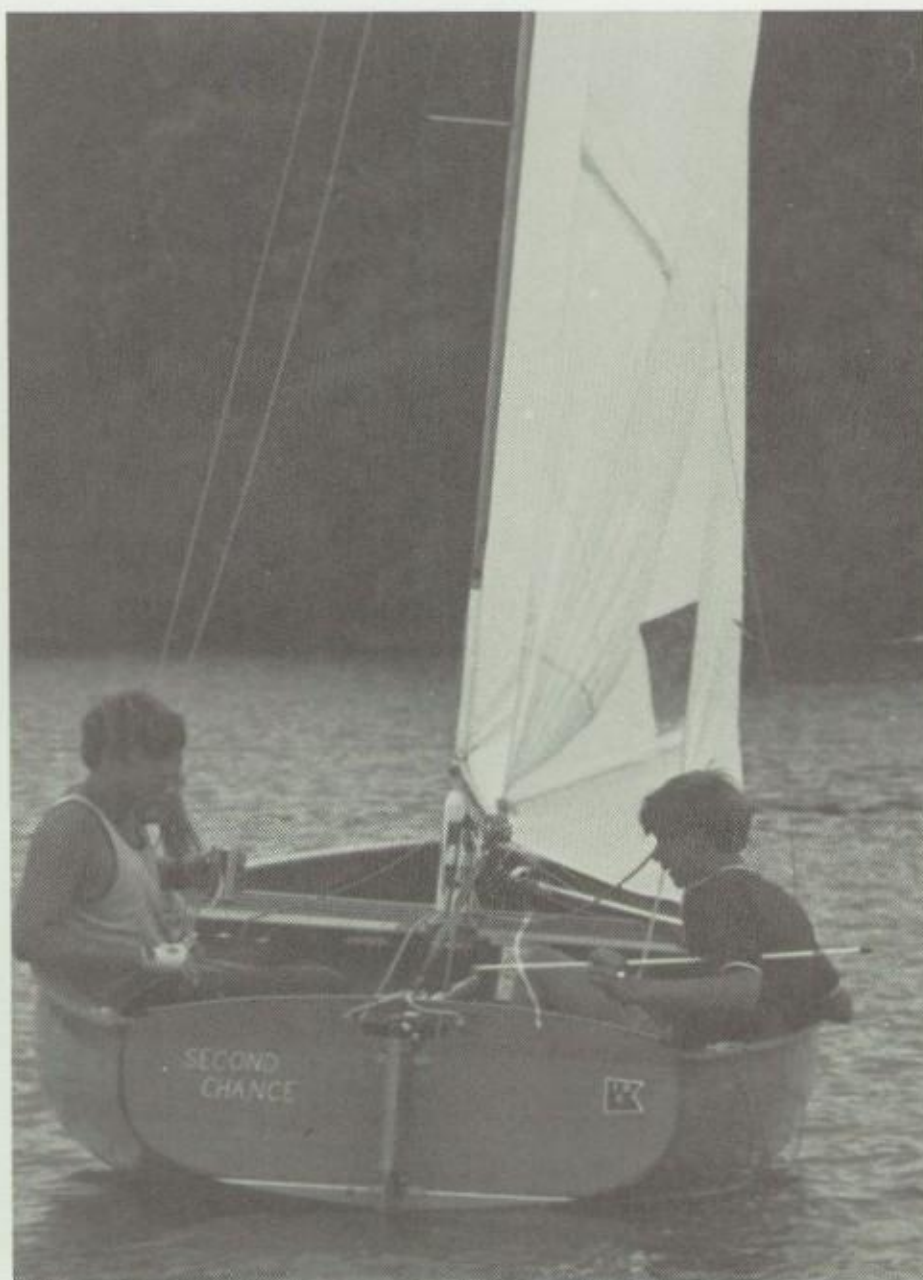

BELOW: It's Aquaman. No, it's Hunt Dyar, a senior. Scuba diving is a different kind of summer sport that is great for the adventuresome.

FREE SUMMER FUN

LEFT: "Huddle up men, I got the perfect plan to cream them. Everyone line up, count three seconds, then, everyone hit the dirt."

BELOW: Decisions, decisions. Tony Peters, senior, has a lot of last minute shopping to do before the first day of school.

RIGHT: Jeff Fisher, sophomore, is making a last minute check on his schedule while Robin Lewis, sophomore, has finally found her class.

LEFT: "I guess this is the right way." Many new students, like Janet Wolf and Kim Westover, sophomores, are unsure about their directions.

FIRST DAY JITTERS

BELOW: Oops! Steve Jones, sophomore, is suffering from a bad case of the "first day jitters." He has to hurry before the passing period ends.

The first day of school. A distinct difference between classes appears early.

SOPHOMORES — bewildered
 "Gosh, it's so BIG!"
 "There are so many people!"
 "Where is lower C-hall?"
 "Isn't G132 the cafeteria?"
 "An elevator pass? Great!"
 "Are you the teacher or a student?"
 "I know I won't have time to eat."

JUNIORS — brave
 "I guess it's that way."
 "Oh, don't worry, you'll find it."
 "We need a class yell, now!"
 "Finally — a junior."
 "Gosh, the sophomores are shrinking."

SENIORS — superior
 "The cafeteria is across the street."
 "What are you wearing for Senior Slop Day?"
 "Want to buy an elevator pass?"
 "D-hall is next to K-hall."

LEFT: "This darn locker! I'll try my combination one more time." The first day of school presents the problem of getting acquainted with lockers, too.

AFTER SCHOOL

Fall — the time when everything starts to roll. Everyone is back in school. It is the time to become involved.

The first event of the year was yearbook picture-taking. The underclassmen seem to dread this every year.

"Ask Any Girl" starred Meg Wheeler, a small town girl who moved to a big city hotel. Many rehearsals, hard work by the stage crew, and good publicity made the fall play a success.

The Romans invaded N.C.! They drove their chariots and they had real Roman garb on. The Chariot Race was sponsored by the Latin Club.

The Panther Parade and Trike Race were the preliminary events of homecoming. Floats were permitted after three years without them.

Fall—just getting started.

BELOW: "Okay, now, leave your head there. Now, smile." What else, but picture-taking, the annual fall activity dreaded by all underclassmen.

LEFT: Run fast, pull hard, and grit your teeth — then you can win the Annual Chariot Race sponsored by the Latin Club and Mr. Barcio.

BELOW: "Here's a light, Meg." Paul Laich, senior, and Laura Milan, junior, were the leads in the fall play, "Ask Any Girl."

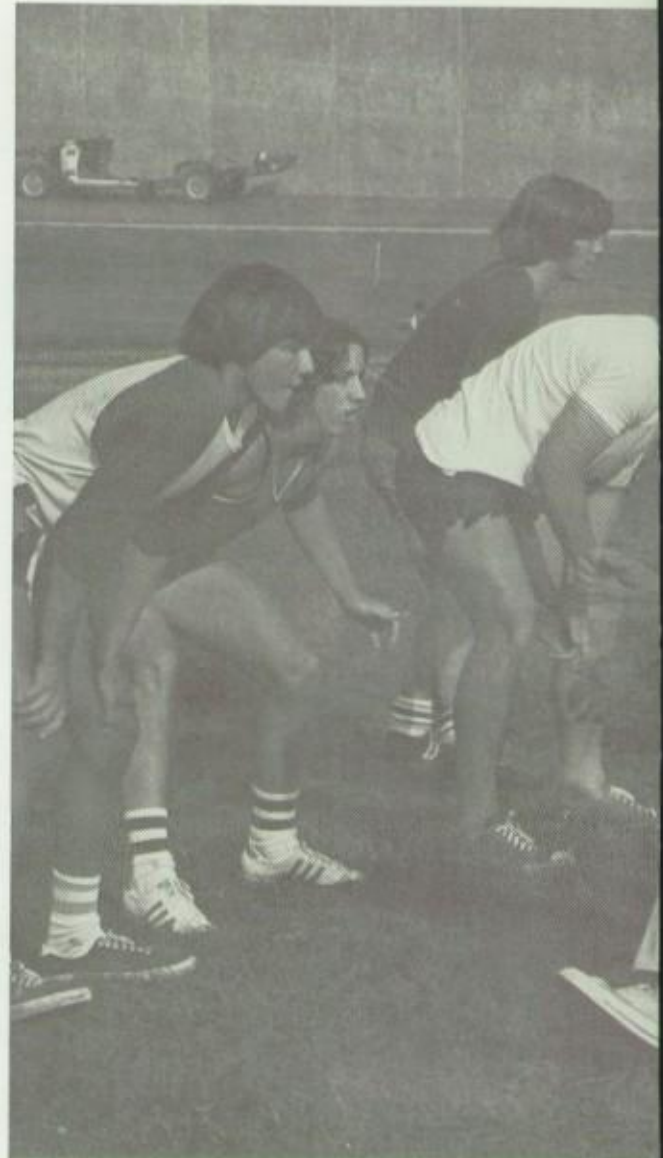

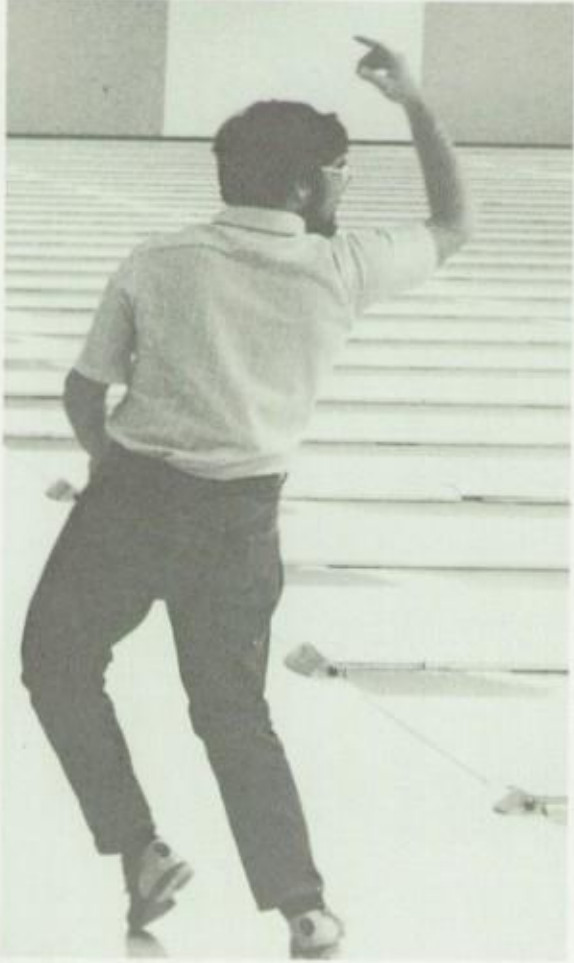

LEFT: Ann McFall, senior, contributed a lot of time and effort on the senior float for the Panther Parade. Ann also donated her barn for the preparations.

BELOW: Nevin Young is displaying his own creation of a dance called the "strike."

BELOW: In this play, off-sides is called against the J-Mo's as they rush toward the Nuders.

Intramural Football

Contrary to popular belief, intramural football is often as dangerous as varsity. The only difference is that in varsity the players have good padding and helmets.

The goal of a defensive player is to pull the ball carrier's flag. When the flag is pulled, the player is "tackled." However, trying to pull the flag is much harder than it seems. The defensive player must break through the offensive line and try to block a pass. If he's too late, he then has to run down the field after the receiver. When he catches him, rather than pull the flag, he usually "hits him hard and knocks him dead." Not at all the non-contact sport it was created to be.

Hit 'em hard, Knock 'em dead, Strike 'em down!

Intramural Bowling

If you've never been on an N.C. bowling team, you've missed a chance to gain new insight into your friends' real thoughts and vocabulary. The scenes around the scoring table are usually more exciting than the action on the other end of the alley. It ranges from various put-downs about a not-so-good attempt for a strike to the "cool" slang and jumping around every time a strike is accomplished.

The Panthers had slight problems this year, including the knee injury of Hobby Donovan, but their seven wins including the victory over Evansville Reitz proves they were a tough team.

All-County awards were received by Jeff Kennedy, Bob Einterz, and Dennis Kitterman.

The North Central team finished their season by defeating fifth ranked Evansville Reitz. With a 35-27 loss at Southport, the Panthers jumped ahead 14-0 in the beginning of the game, only to fall victim to a successful Cardinal comeback. A week later Panther fans were not to be disappointed again. Homecoming fans saw their team defeat Arlington 29-20. Evansville Reitz was favored as a 17 point favorite, but instead they were beaten by a score of 22 to 8.

Dave Burnett stated, "Even though we lost three games, Mr. Weaver is the greatest coach in the state."

Coach Friedersdorf said, "We could have won three out of the four games we lost. They were all lost in the last few minutes."

After a win over Carmel 20-0 and a loss to Lawrence 12-7 in the first two games of the season, the team defeated Beech Grove by 22-8. A TD by Broad Ripple in the last minute of the game caused a defeat. A week later the Panthers were again defeated by Ben Davis in the last three seconds of the game. This was caused by a defensive man missing his assignment. The reserves finished their season by defeating Warren, Southport, and Arlington, with a loss to Bloomington South.

Brian Pinner was the key to all the running attacks. He gained much yardage for the team during the season. Quarterback Scott Smith aided the team by throwing eight TD passes.

Defensive end John Partenheimer added, "We had very fine coaching. Coach Friedersdorf's and Schiffli's experience in coaching helped us. I hope their help will give us better luck in future seasons."

RIGHT: Jont Rogers is paying more attention to the photographer than the game! He is a member of the pep band that plays for games.

RIGHT: Thataway, Brad Osborne, yell good and loud! School spirit is always on the rise. Pep sessions are the best place to liven people up.

CROWDED...

A football game would not be a football game without crowds and cheerleaders. In a school of 3800 there is always a crowd. Football games draw the biggest and most colorful gatherings of all sports.

"I like football games because I see all of my friends in one night. And everybody is having a good time (unless we're getting smeared)."

"The more, the merrier. There is more spirit and everyone stays a little warmer in a crowd." The varsity cheerleaders' great exuberance was what kept the spectators jumping. The number one ranked cheerleaders in the state were also the main spark that lit the crowds in pep sessions.

Football crowds—the spectators, cold and talkative; the marching band, persistent and precise; the football team, always raring to go; and the cheerleaders, proud, hopeful, and full of enthusiasm.

A SLICE OF

HOME COMING

The basic ingredients for a Homecoming cake are people, spirit, a game, and a dance. There are many spices that can be added for a more exciting taste.

Preheat the oven to about 1973 degrees. Leave enough room in the oven to fit 3700 students.

Begin with the basic ingredient, people (preferably students). Get them active by making a pep session. For a skit, have a marriage between either an Arlington Knight or a North Central Panther.

Add a jug of quick planning, a couple of long nights, and four wheels; let simmer for two weeks. This is the Panther Parade portion. Mix with people and spirit.

For a touch of eloquence, add a queen and king. Kathy Davis and Todd McKinney are the best to have.

Stir until it peaks. Add crushed Knights (Arlington), defeated in the football game.

On Saturday make the icing. Add theme, "Yesterday Once More," with the band, Orion Symphony. Let sizzle for a few hours.

Now your Homecoming cake is finished. Dig in!

Coached by the "little girl," Mrs. Frayer, the girls' volleyball team volleyed a season of 10 wins and one loss. This fantastic season can be attributed to the unity and spirit brought out by the coaches' leadership and the general positive outlook of the girls on the volleyball team.

Volleyball games are played for eight minutes. Whoever wins the best of two games wins the match. In case of a tie a third game is played to decide the victory. Each game is played for fifteen points, which have to be won by two.

Dara Waldron was disappointed about losing the sectional tournament. She stated, "We should have won it. Marshall had only one loss during the season and that was to us. We won the first game and Marshall won the second and third games. The second two games ran into overtime. That made them very exciting and nerve-racking to play."

Enthusiasm and team spirit brought much happiness to the girls this year. The same spirit can only bring them more success in their future seasons.

Cross Country;

A Patriotic Victory

"It was a cold, rainy day. Everyone felt lousy. No one bothered to warm up," said the most valuable runner of the year, Steve Bridgeford. At the Riverside Patriot Invitational, Carmel and North Central were tied with 42 points each. Whichever team's sixth man fared the best would win the meet. North Central won first place there.

Cross country is a tough sport which requires much training and endurance. This year the teams have shown their competitors they are tough because of the help from Coach Wille and Assistant Coach Riley.

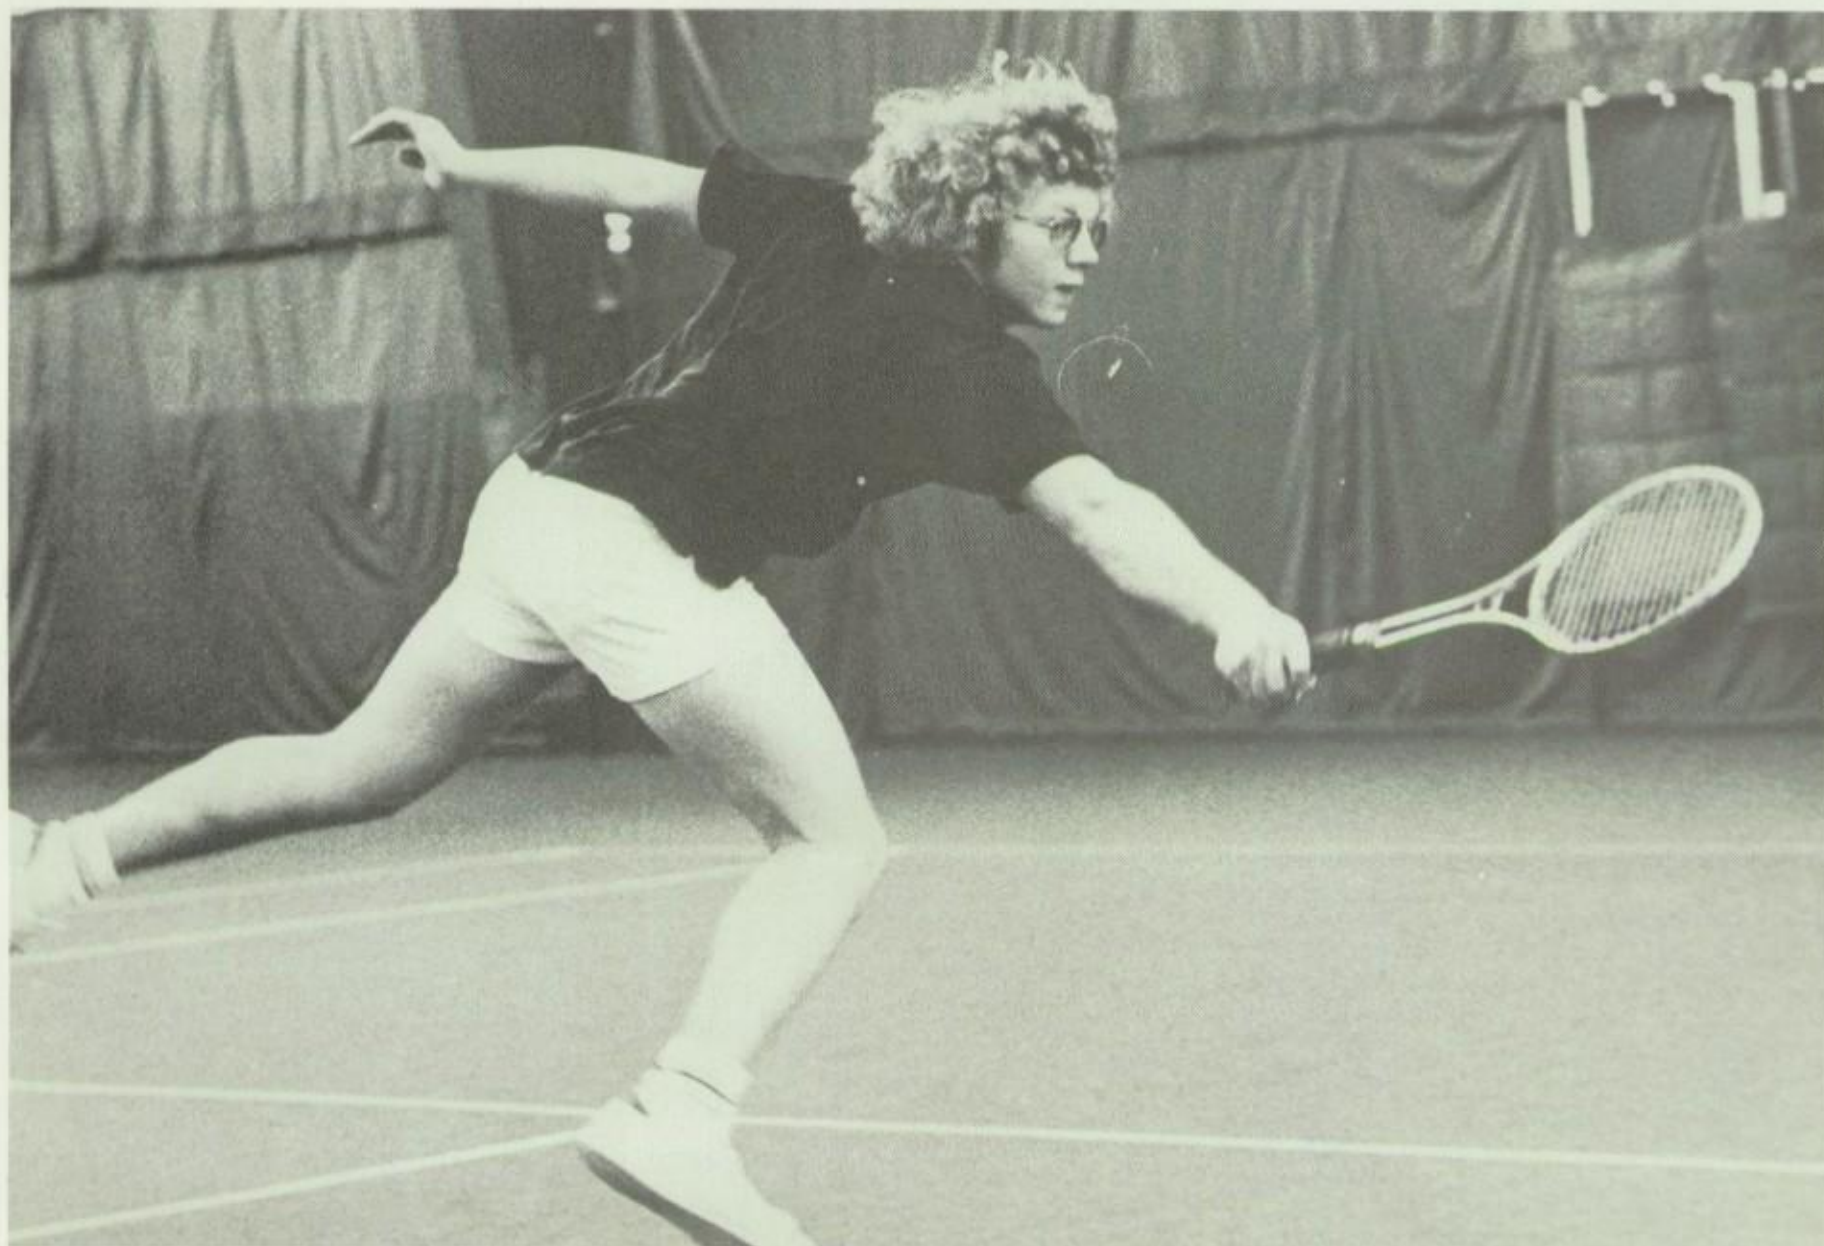

The varsity team finished their season with 6 wins and one loss. Their overall season record included 126 wins and 17 losses.

The reserve squad had five wins and one loss. Bob Deitch was voted the most improved runner of the 1973 season.

Tennis Netmen Conquer

Tennis has recently become the fastest growing sport in the United States. Reflecting that growth, this year's netmen achieved an undefeated spring tennis season.

"We've had two fantastic seasons. I think we can give all the credit to the fine coaching of Mr. Shirley," stated Steve Madawick. Steve, along with Jeff Smart, acquired an undefeated record during the regular season. They played as a doubles team, scoring first at the Lafayette Doubles Tournament and during the Sectional. Kirk Bayless aided the team by acquiring second in the county and in the sectional. The number five player, Rick Hurst, scored an undefeated season in his singles matches.

Others who helped the team were Paul Rexroth, Bill Kraft, and Randy Dixon. Taking after their varsity counterparts, the reserves had an undefeated season record of 7-0.

What did the cigarette lady say? "You've come a long way baby." As years pass, girls' sports have grown at an extremely quick rate. As few as five years ago girls' sports was unheard of. Is it women's lib, or what? Whatever it is, it is about time for not only the boys, but the girls to show their talent in athletic competition.

The girl's golf team was awarded sixth place in the sectional match after completing an 11-3 season. Teamwork, compiled with much talent, earned the girl's tennis team an undefeated season. The light-footed ladies of the track squad closed the season with two wins and two losses.

WARM UP FOR WINTER

RIGHT: The most common chore in the fall is raking leaves. Jan Burnett, senior said, "I'm up to my ears in leaves, but I still love to rake."

Leaves turn gold, red, orange, and brown. The temperatures drop and the colored leaves float to the ground. This is fall.

Fall means raking the leaves. Saturday morning Dad says, "You are not doing anything until the leaves are raked." So you rake the leaves, then go to a friend's house or something. By the time you get home that same afternoon, the leaves are piled high — again.

Fall offers tons of things to do. There are always the weekly football games to attend. Many students drive to the Brown County State Park for a day of hiking and picnicking. Some might find a cave to explore. Fall is when charities have their walk-a-thons and bike-a-thons. On colder days many students spend their time shopping. Some get together after school for a big game of soccer or touch football.

Fall is the time when people file summer in their memories and put winter in their minds.

RIGHT: When the first frost hits, everyone suddenly realizes they have nothing to keep them warm. Mark Hanley joins in the mad rush.

SUCCESS . . .

Despite the snow, and despite the cold, activities flourished. In late November, all of the musical groups performed in "Opus 73." After this, all the choirs and bands started practicing for the annual Christmas program. Each choir performed for at least one song. The "Messiah," featuring soloists, ended the program. The snow hit hard on the first day of the program. Therefore, the following two performances were cancelled. The snow won in that battle.

The snow also interrupted the Key Club's annual Can Drive. Despite school's early closing, and an extra long vacation, the can drive was still a great success, surpassing the goal. The cans that were collected were sent to the needy families in Washington Township.

The class councils got it together this winter. Each class made up and presented a skit at the pep session for the county basketball games. Later, the Senior Class Council organized a square dance. It was a hot time in the old gym that night. Everybody sweated, got tired, but had loads of fun.

"I love snow, but enough is enough!"

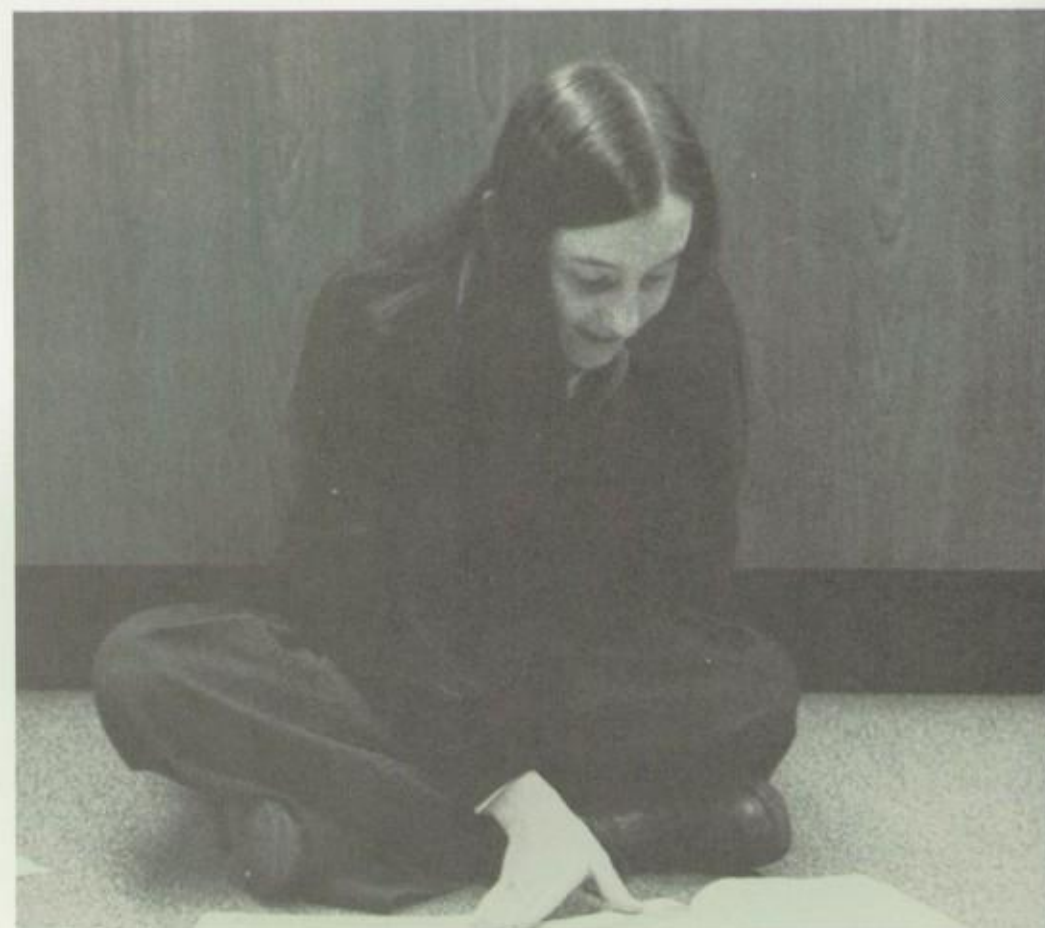

Winter came in like a lion. Christmas vacation was lengthened by two days because of snow; the Christmas program was cancelled because of snow, the January dance was cancelled; and there was an extra three-day weekend in January because of snow. The snow accumulation in December set a new record.

What did everyone do on these added snow days? Since most people were forced to stay home, a lot of catch-up studying was accomplished. There was also a lot of horsing around, of course. With 12 inches of snow, who could resist a snowball fight and a good day of sledding?

Trying to drive in the snow and ice was one thing not many people enjoyed. Pushing cars out of ditches was a frequent sight along all the roads.

One student had a very good explanation for the harsh weather: "This year's snow was combined with the leftover snow from last year's mild winter, and it was dumped on us this year, before the energy crisis gets worse next winter."

ON STAGE

RIGHT: In a convo, "Poetry in Black," Mr. Bruce Martin was the solo actor.

... finally, after innumerable practices, we are on stage. The audience is impatiently waiting for us to perform.

That moment when the curtain rises all of the suggestions and the criticisms fall into place. The movements come to us out of habit; we are on stage—performing.

The opportunities to see talent varied from the semi-professional convos, to amateur plays and concerts, to a well-coordinated Spec.

The Junior Spectacular acts began technical practices on stage in the beginning of February. Every day two of the four acts had a chance to smooth out the rough spots before production.

The drama department and the music department combined efforts to produce the plays "Flowers for Algernon" and "No, No, Nannette." Both productions took months to rehearse and coordinate. "No, No, Nannette" tryouts began in early February, with the play in April.

Nuders, first place!

Intramural Basketball

ABOVE: A pass is made to Hobby Donovan who will take the ball down court.

An ending with a surprise was brought about by the now champion "Nuders" who won first place in the intramural basketball playoff tournament. Playing against equally talented teams made it hard for the "Nuders" to show their skills in rebounding, good defense, and good shooting. But the truth came out when tournament time arrived.

First off, the "Soul Trotters" tried to claim victory over the "Nuders" in the semi-finals, but did not succeed. When the finals came around, the "Taddies" fought hard enough to put the game into overtime, but it wasn't enough to win.

The four league champions were decided after many exciting matches. With a record of 9-0, "BFC" became the champions of League A. "Pure Net" was the top team in League B boasting of the record of 9-0. An equally good record of 9-0 by the "Pygmies" of League C made them their league's champion with ease. After a harder fight the "Scoombudies" won the League D championship with a score of 8-1.

Coach Arlan Lickliter remarked that the past basketball season was "frustrating and rewarding."

The team showed their "romping" power throughout the season. Sectional champions Arlington and Ben Davis were defeated by the mighty Panthers during regular season play. Tough breaks contributed to losses at Pike and at the sectional against Shortridge. The two adversaries were equally strong, but with only two seconds remaining Shortridge scored two points to win the game. North Central had 27 rebounds, while Shortridge had 24.

The varsity squad finished their season with 14 wins and 8 losses. Todd Lickliter broke eight team records and Aus Purvlicis acquired the field goal record for the team.

Manager Brad Osborne said, "Our success was attributed to a team effort, and shall carry on for next year's championship bound team."

Coached by Jack Walters, the reserve basketball team finished the season with an 12-5 record.

Mr. Walters, known as "Vivacious Jack" expressed his philosophy about the reserves, "I believe if the boys show enough improvement in their basketball skills to be qualified to play on the varsity, we've had a successful reserve season. I believe more in this improvement philosophy than the actual record we achieved."

This year more than ever, each individual player has had more time to play than in past years. This gives each player more practice to improve enough to play on the varsity. The reserves have much height this year which the varsity lacks. Because of this advantage the varsity next year should be contenders for the state championship playoff.

AND

DOWN

Voices were blasting; Angers were flaring; Temperatures were rising—an overtime! Time for an Excedrin!

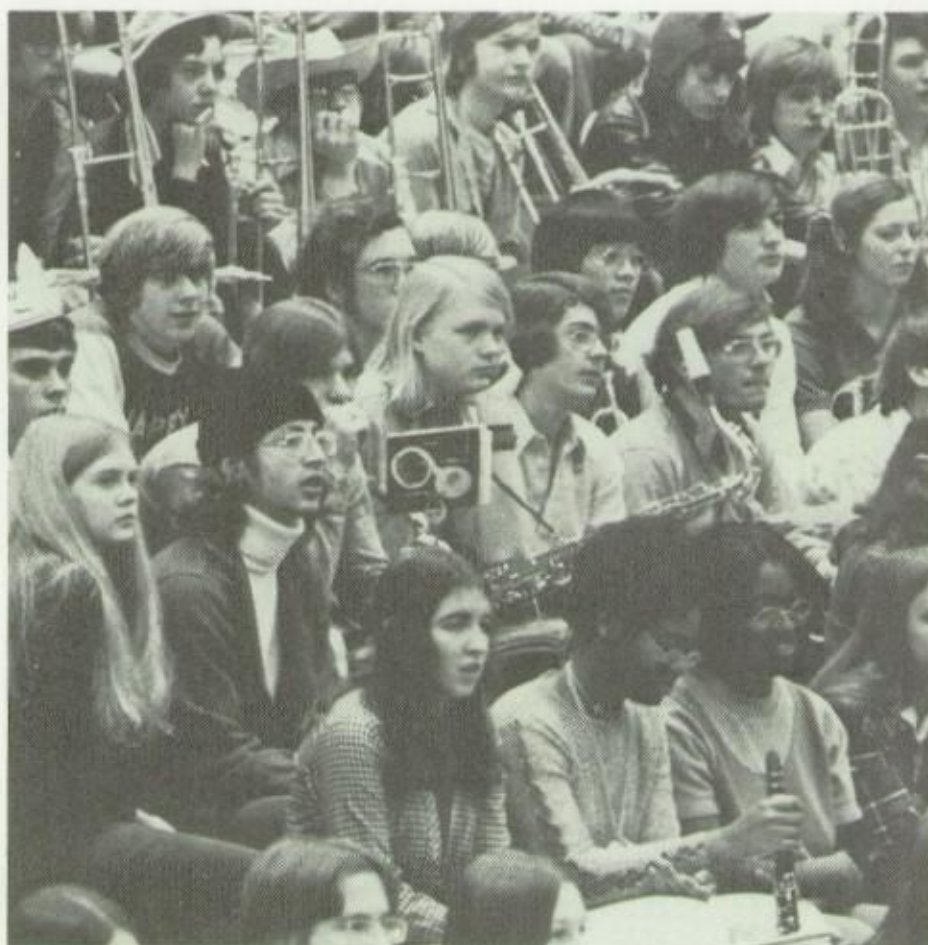

Basketball is an exhilarating game not only for the long-winded players, but also for the long-winded spectators. No one can go to a game and sit quietly. He becomes involved in the crowd that surrounds him. "Son of Rude" was a student booster club that met at every game and added their support to the team.

The reserve cheerleaders had the job of warming up the crowds and cheering their reserve basketball team onward. They succeeded in all of their attempts.

Watch the crowds when the score is tied with ten seconds left in the game. You will see that everyone has their hands over their eyes, with only a tiny peep-hole—watching for a last second miracle basket.

HYSTERIA

HOOSIER

As the basketball tourney roll around, so do the banners, bus loads of people, and the enthusiasm of the crowd. Cars decorated and derbies tossed about show signs that the tourney season is officially beginning.

Rush—get your ticket. Fight your way through the gates and push a path up the bleachers with the spectators' screams all around you. Your seat is small for the price and somehow it keeps disappearing when you stand up. How can you help but cheer wildly for the team? You are caught in a moment of hysteria . . . You've fallen into "Hoosier Hysteria."

Girls' Basketball & Gymnastics

Teamwork & Progress

"Our team has outstanding individuals who work well as a team. Because we haven't had a lot of height we've concentrated on quickness and it's paid off," said Coach Justin.

Heading off the starting five for the basketball team were forwards Lisa Harris and Kathy Hennegan, guards Dara Waldron and Kyle O'Brien, and center Laura Kruse.

The successful season must be credited to the 2-3 defense employed, the full-court press, and of course, the fine coaching from Mrs. Justin.

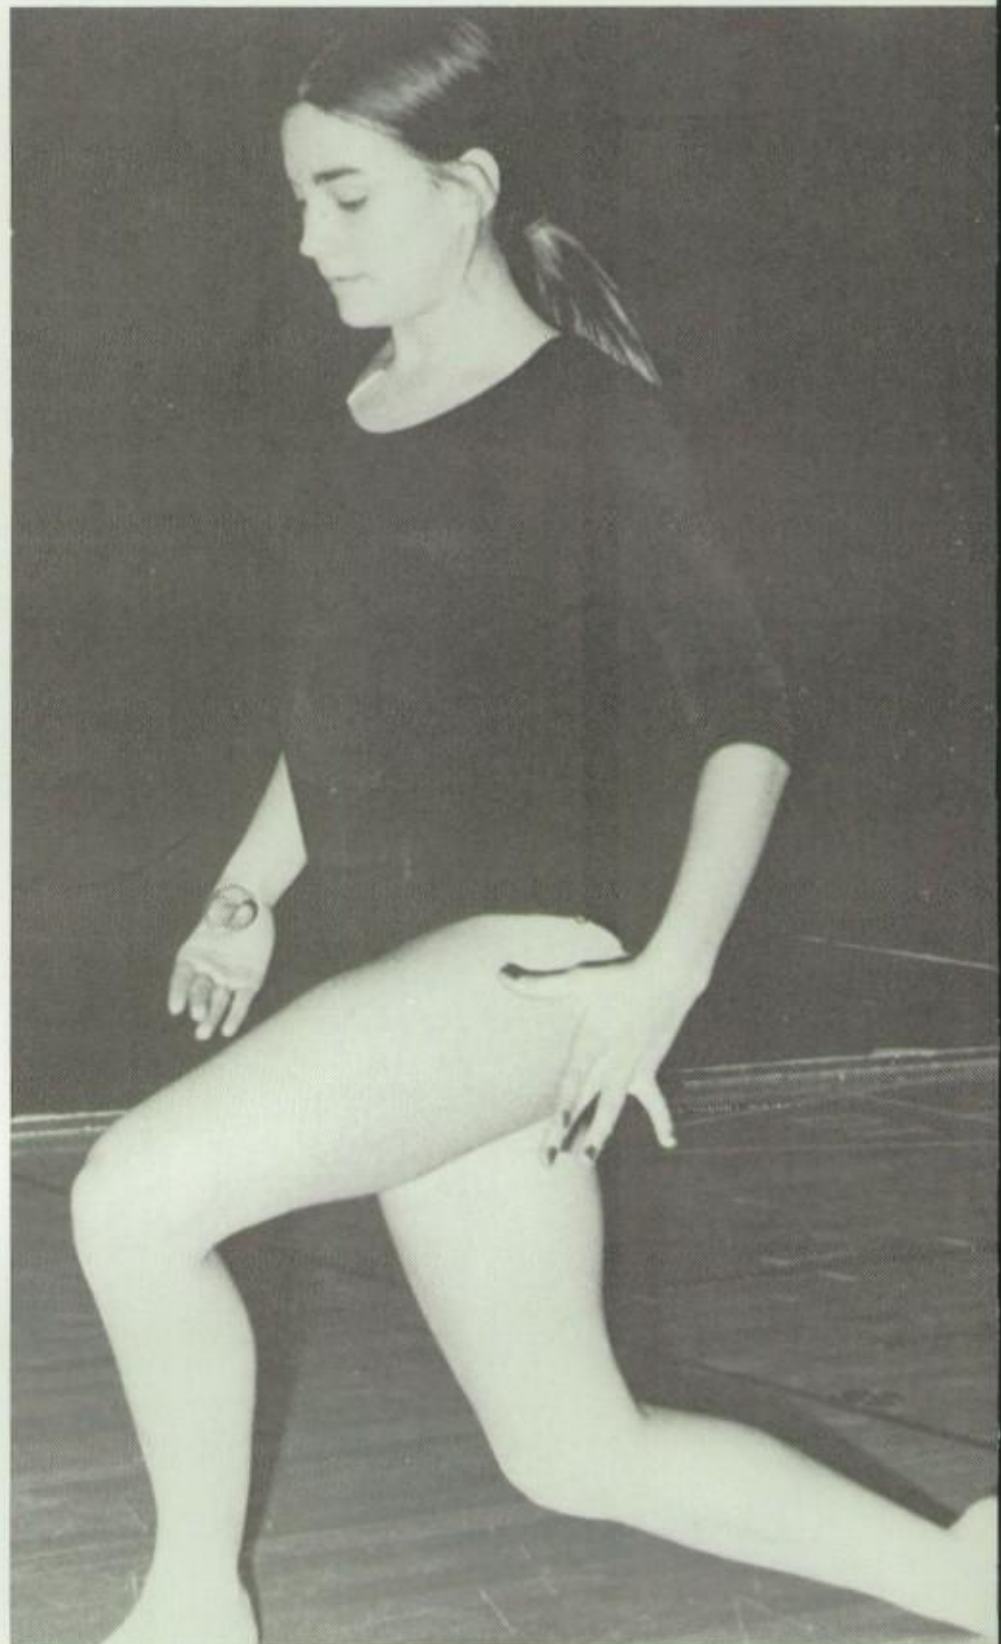

The gymnastics team, coached by Mrs. Slama, had a few problems. The new optional routine made it harder for the girls to score enough points to capture many victories. The change from last year's compulsory routine brought on many new hardships for the team.

Gymnast Marcie Evard stated, "The team is progressing steadily in their first year with the optional routine. We need to perfect form and precision to guarantee to the team more success in the future seasons."

Boys' Gymnastics Gymnasts Illuminate

Gymnasts in the past have shown the ability to win when the pressure is on. This year illuminates that thought by outstanding performances throughout the entire season.

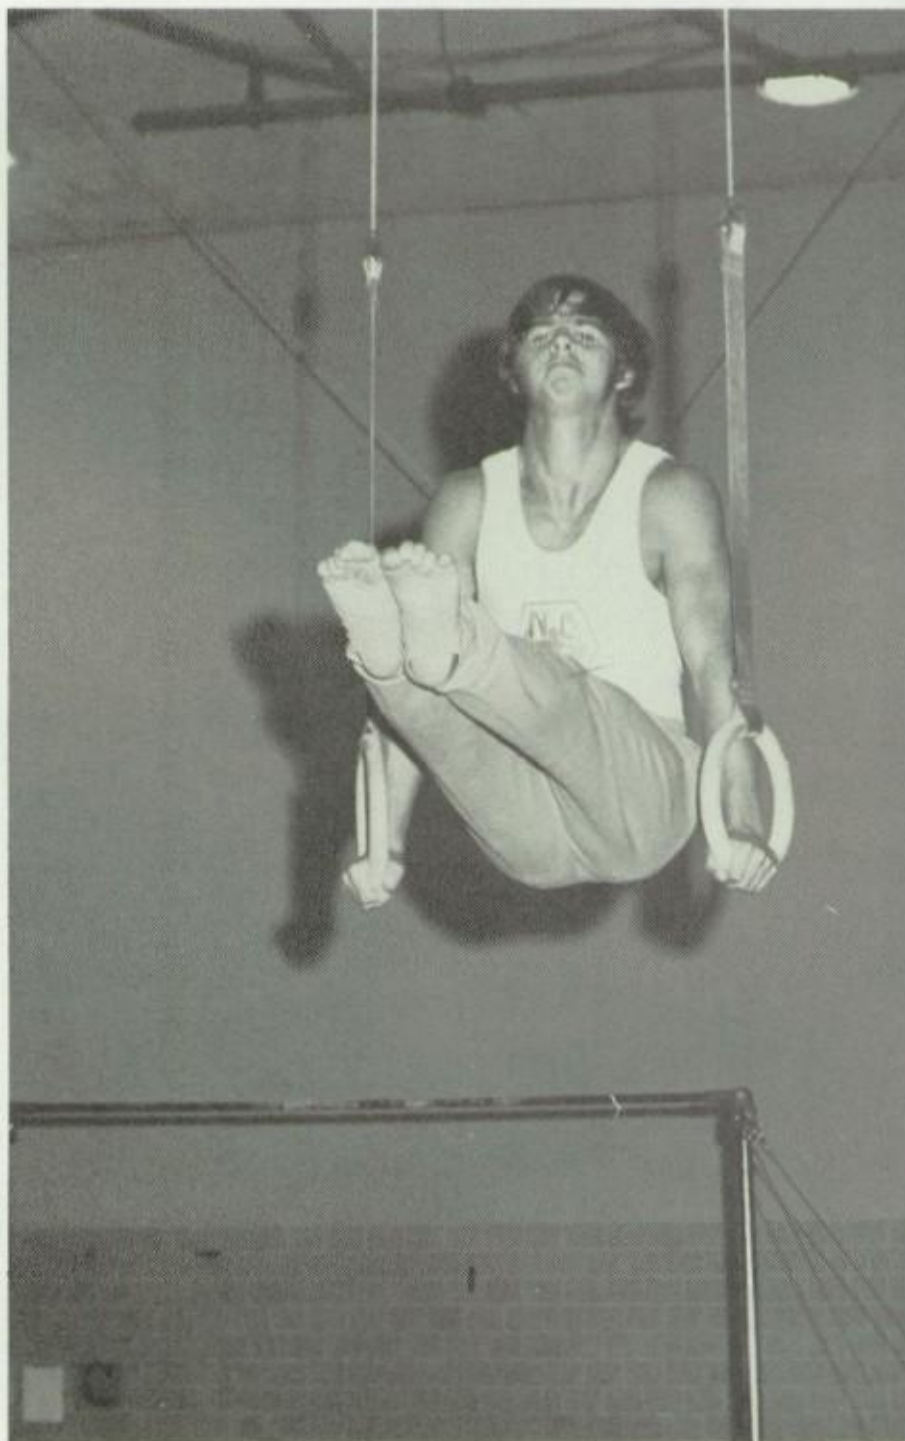

Placing first in Sectionals was accomplished through strenuous practice. Seven of the gymnasts qualified for State competition, in which John Peet, freshman, captured first place on the trampoline. Other qualifiers were Tony Davey, Larry Tucker, Dick Dyke, Clay Hall, Ken Spall, and Dave Geiser.

In events ranging from trampoline and still rings to ones such as parallel bars and free exercise, superb coordination is distinctly shown. Proof of this is shown through the winning of first place in the county tournament and their exciting showing in the sectional matches. Such coordination is attained by their many practice sessions, which are supervised by their talented coach John Emry.

Wrestling United We Grapple

Coach Farrand remarked that "this year's team had very mature young men as leaders. Their leadership is what brought united success to us."

Many awards are given to wrestlers at the annual awards banquet. Jim Tasich won the fastest take-down award, as well as capturing the most falls. Joe Bennett was the take-down champion. He acquired the quickest initial take-down at three seconds. George Freyn won the most falls for the reserve team.

Billy Wolf, a member of the wrestling team a few years back, died in a plane crash. Coach Farrand stated, "Billy improved greatly as a wrestler from his sophomore to his junior year. I was shocked at his death." Now a Billy Wolf award is given out each year. This year's recipients were Charlie Dinwiddie and Donnie Brown.

This year's team had great success which was reflected through Rick Habig's appearance at the state championship match.

During the team's second year of competition it has again achieved beyond expectations for a team so new to the game. Jim Lawall, Jeff Smart, Randy Helmen, Mike Miles and alternates Greg Heath and Jim Cook make up the relay team which placed eighth in state competition.

The girl's swimming team also fared well during its season. With 18 girls, along with six divers, the girls proved themselves a challenge. Team captains Patti Franz and Kim Bolden said, "Defending 2nd place in the state is a burden, but we welcomed it."

Picture this—a sunny January Saturday, the temperature hovering around 30, and a snow depth of five inches. This is the kind of day that is perfect for playing in the snow.

The most popular winter-time sport in Indianapolis is sledding. Everyone has his own favorite hill that he retreats to. The next most popular sport is skating. Even though it takes a long time for the local lakes and ponds to freeze, students find that indoor skating rinks suffice. Tobagganning is a great sport if there are about four brave people who can get together on a toboggan and keep their balance. Nothing hurts more than being run over by a toboggan with three people on it.

Many students found time on weekends and vacation to go skiing. Michigan was where most students migrated.

Winter certainly cannot be considered the season for hibernation—at least not for N.C. students!

"Winter is great fun—if we get a decent snow or two!"

The Intense

What keeps a hundred students in the band so united? What brings twenty-five students together every week for a club meeting? Why does our school have such a good record of high school graduates? The answer: Common interest.

When I enter a new class I always feel kind of lonely. I don't recognize very many people. My first impression is that I am alone in a big crowd. Slowly, the chill leaves the class and I begin feeling like I am a part of the group.

A common interest can bind a group together. It is a beginning.

The sole purpose of history courses is no longer that of memorizing endless lists of dates coinciding with names and places. The social studies curriculum offers a program which challenges students with current social and political problems. Latin American Studies, Russian History, and International Relations were electives that encouraged in-depth studying of certain areas.

The purpose of the American Field Service Club is to "initiate friendship and world understanding throughout the student body." This goal is carried out with the help of the two exchange students hosted each year. AFS helps these students get better acquainted with the school and students. AFS plans parties, cookouts, and field trips along with their regular meetings.

The Student Council this year really tried to get things going, and worked for the students as well as the school. Headed by John B. Thompson, the council adopted new ideas and methods to help insure student and faculty involvement.

They sponsored many school activities like the paper drive, organization of car pools, and one of the most successful homecomings ever.

The Black Student Union has been very active this year. They worked to unite the black students, as well as working for involvement with the rest of the student body. They sponsored many functions, the biggest being Black Awareness Week in March.

Besides the usual study of grammar and the government, civilization, and philosophy of the Romans, they have many outside activities. With the help of the Latin Club, they hold the annual chariot race. Involved in this are wearing togas (the dress of the ancient Romans), and the building and running of chariots. They compete in the catapult contest every spring against other schools. In this, teams build their own catapults.

FRENCH & HEBREW

ABOVE: Pierre Flori, the chef of La Tour Restaurant, demonstrates a recipe for crepes.

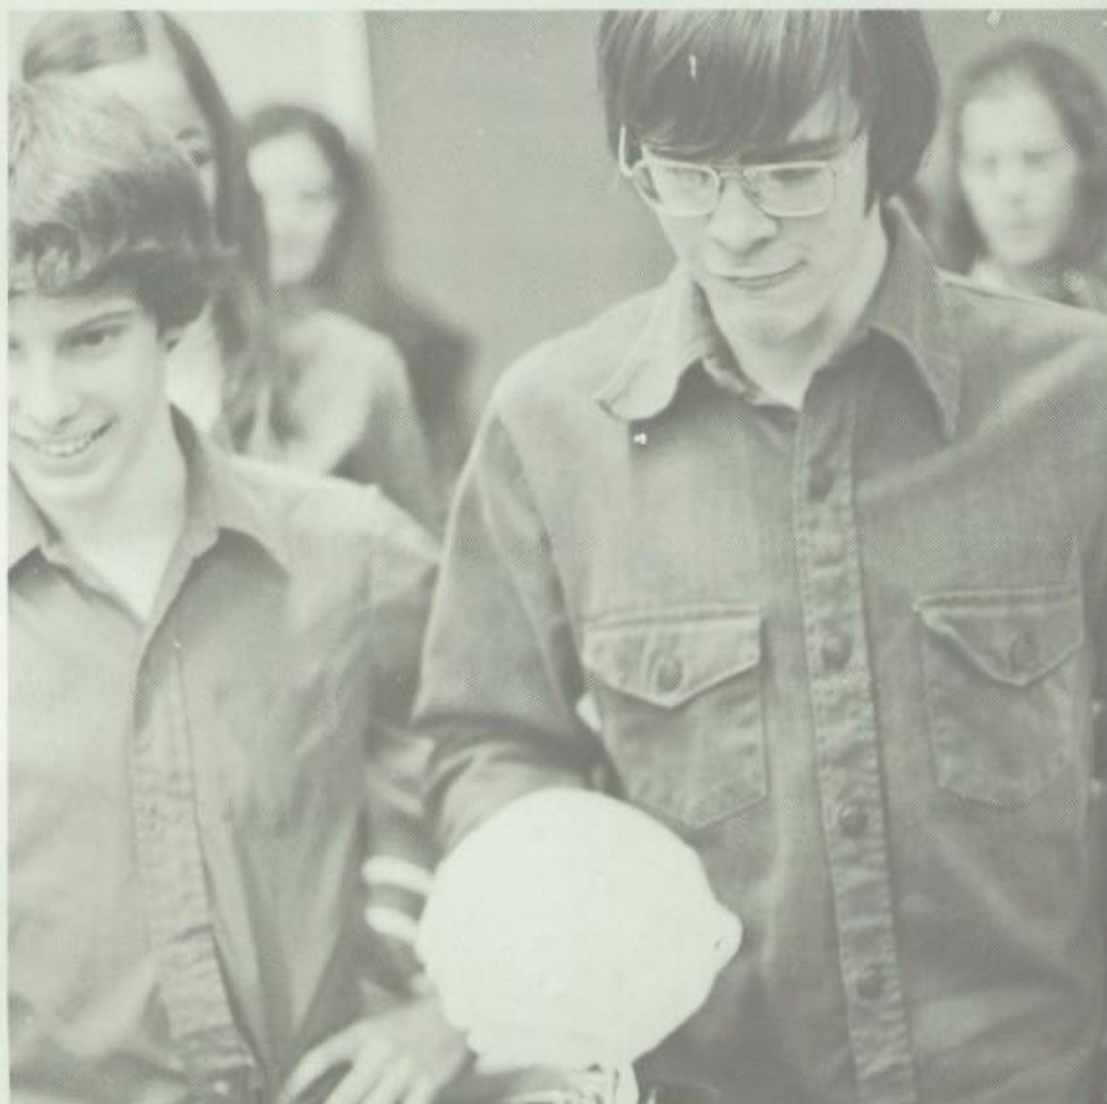

Bonjour mes amis! Comment allez-vous? If you take French, you know this means "Hello my friends, how are you?"

French classes this year had new books that turned out to be a great improvement over last year's materials. These books came with supplementary tapes and workbooks which helped lots in oral work. French life and customs were shown through guest speakers who, according to the students, "talked too fast."

The French club helped with learning about France the "fun way" by going to a French opera, showing films, and enjoying delicious French cuisine.

A Hebrew class was offered for the first time this year. Students in this class learned to speak, read, and write simple Hebrew, which involved a completely different alphabet. Information on the people and customs of Israel was also taught.

Spanish is supposed to be the easiest language to study, but many of the students taking it probably wouldn't agree. These classes got new books and other materials including tapes, this year, and there has been greater stress on oral work. The Spanish Club helps students by outside projects and extracurricular activities as well as meetings.

The German classes also worked more orally. With the help of the German club, they held their annual Christmas dinner at the Athenaeum which everyone thoroughly enjoyed! The Spanish, German, and French Clubs also held a big Christmas party together.

The Russian class always had lots of hard work to do. Besides the usual work, both oral and written, these students had to learn a new alphabet.

Aside from their classes which taught military courtesies and customs, citizenship, riflery, drill, and leadership, the cadets could participate in any of the four drill teams, rifle or pistol teams, or any of the intramural sports in which the unit sponsored a team.

The Battalion provided all the workers for traffic control and concession stands at NC football and basketball games. The unit participated in the Veterans' Day Parade and M14 Rifle Qualification at Camp Atterbury.

In addition to the more typical JROTC activities, the Battalion sponsored Explorer Post 102. Cadets from the unit participated in the March of Dimes Walk-a-thon. They also collected funds for the Salvation Army and contributed uniforms to a troop of blind scouts.

"All we ever do in class is diagram sentences," was not the typical comment made by students with reference to English class. The chance to improve skills was offered in a manner interesting to most students.

The sophomore English program, which was developed to respond to student interest, was continued from last year with some minor changes. The choice of electives was increased from eight to 19, to include many more up-to-date topics such as "Coping With The Mass Media," "A Question Of Justice," and "War And Peace."

The junior English year, which was devoted mainly to the study of American literature, utilized techniques such as class discussion, skits, and films.

This year's book has seen many changes mainly because several members of the staff went to the Ball State High School Journalism Workshop during the summer. New techniques and ideas along with the fundamentals of photography, reporting, and layouts were learned there. Using these new ideas, the staff added variety to the book by restructuring various sections, and also by using new methods of art work and writing.

Along with the seemingly endless work and the ever-present "deadline blues" came lots of fun. Celebrations at Farrell's along with birthday parties were fairly common. The staff also exchanged secret pals, had "Let's Boogie" t-shirts, and decorated a car for the homecoming parade.

The staff of the NORTHERN LIGHTS, North Central's student newspaper, returned this year to the traditional bi-weekly publication system after last year's experiment with printing a smaller weekly issue. Staff members strived for accuracy in reporting school news and sports events as well as presenting feature articles and editorials concerning both school-related and national events.

Members of North Central's News Bureau wrote and submitted for publication various news and feature stories to the Teen Star and to the local Topics newspapers.

PHOTOGRAPHERS

WATCH the birdie

Some may think a photographer is one who runs around snapping pictures here and there, but this is definitely not the whole story.

The average photographer has a long hard day. Every morning he has to drag himself out of bed in order to come in early and try to finish the stacks of pictures he has to print. His hectic day is centered around the endless rolls of film he has to develop and the hundreds of prints he has to make. Including the period he has scheduled in C540, the local darkroom, he spends the greater part of his day around there. He always has to be pulled out of class to photograph everything from your average math test to an airport runway. The only escape he has is a near-by corn-field.

Many thanks to Charles Desterbeque and George Stubbs for the arranging of the airport pictures.

Forensics has had a very successful year under the leadership of their coach Mr. Fruits. Commonly known as "the speech team," North Central's branch of the National Forensics League attended over 15 contests throughout the state, including two overnight competitions at Purdue University and Terre Haute South. A contest held here in November drew over 1000 participants from over 53 high schools statewide.

Many activities revolve around NC's stage. No show could ever be possible without the efforts of the gallant Stage Crew, which runs lighting and sound, paints and constructs scenery, take care of props, and generally manage the stage. The student head of Stage Crew is Doug Bartlett, who hastens to explain that "Stage Crew involves everybody."

Costume/Make-up, headed by Liz Kortepeter, involves learning how to apply make-up, and adjusting costumes to achieve the desired appearances.

North Central is the home of International Thespian Troop Number 1851. Students gained membership in this society by earning Thespian points through their theatrical talents.

Having scissor fights or an occasional game of clay tossing are not unusual to see if you are unconsciously walking along lower H-hall during classroom periods. Maybe you are taking a detour to your typing class and you just happen to hear a set of drums in Mr. Jeffery's silvercraft room. Look again! A "hammer contest" is part of the daily routine.

But behind all of these fun and games are talented students who like to express themselves by observing with their eyes, interpreting with their minds, and creating with their hands.

Students can expand their knowledge and skill of the arts through ceramics, macrame, silvercraft, sculpture, and others. These add something extra to the regular Art 1-8 classes. Every year in the spring, the art students display their creations during the Spring Arts Festival.

Math students spent the year mainly trying to "get the answer" to problems seemingly as confusing as this one. Taking time out from their figurings, the calculus classes, headed by Mr. Weinheimer decided on the "Calculus '74" T-shirts to insure unity among the senior students.

Members of the National Honor Society helped the school more than most students realized. One of the main ways was a tutoring program which gave help to anyone who needed it. Membership was based on scholastic achievement, leadership, and service to the school.

Hoosier Girls' and Boys' State is a state-wide activity sponsored by the American Legion. This past summer, five seniors received the honor of attending. The students learned about state and local governments by establishing their own systems. They were divided into city, county, and state branches, held elections, and ran their own government.

CAREER CENTER

You probably don't know it, but you are an important person in the market-merchandising field. You do the buying!

Everything it takes to get a product from its point of manufacture to the consumers is a part of marketing. Jobs you can get into include package design, transportation, pricing, marking, advertising, display, and sales.

This field requires people that like working with others. Creative or artistic qualities help you get ahead in this field.

DECA, Distributive Education Club of America, is a group that works in the sales promotion area.

RIGHT: Gene Sloan and Debbie Adams are "on the air" in their radio and TV class.

You've all heard of the lady who got charged $15 for having her T.V. repaired, and all the guy did was plug it in. The electronics course at the Career Center could prevent such problems.

Students learn how to fix radios, T.V.'s, and tape recorders. The skills they learn can be applicable to any equipment involving electronic components. The students work with vacuum tube voltmeters, cathode ray oscilloscopes, signal generators, and other equipment.

This course can get you jobs in radio and television repair, utility companies, broadcasting, and education. You can also get into data processing, space and missile development, and military and manufacturing jobs.

Thanks to the Career Center, industrial arts classes include much more than just wood.

You can go into welding. Welders are needed in construction of steel structured buildings to weld framework together. Manufacturing plants and car factories also need welders.

Drafting is another expanding field. Mechanical draftsmen make detailed drawings from the rough ideas and sketches of the designers. Construction trades draftsmen concentrate on drawing in things like plumbing, heating, ventilation, and air conditioning.

Have you wondered why some of the girls at school have been running around in nurses uniforms? Well, they are learning to be medical and dental assistants.

The medical students are learning skills to help them in finding careers working in hospitals, nursing homes, and public health agencies. They receive background for jobs as nursing assistants and orderlies. While some skills are learned in real clinics and offices. They also learn to get along with the patients and get some basics in health science.

The dental assistant program for seniors includes semi-professional duties within the office. The dental students learn to mix materials, sterilize instruments, process film, and help get the patients relaxed before treatment. They do chair-side assisting and also get background on record keeping and reception duties. Some students work closely with ceramics, plastics, and metals in a two year dental laboratory program.

The Career Center also offers an accounting program that teaches computing, classifying, and recording data. This training leads to jobs as bookkeepers, accountants, and cashiers.

office education classes. Meetings

Think of all the cars that used to be repaired after the gigantic number of wrecks that happen.

Insurance companies pay millions upon millions of dollars to have these cars fixed. They need dents removed, parts replaced, glass installed, frames straightened, and seats reupholstered and refinished. The automotive body program could get you into this field.

The automotive programs in the Career Center train students to keep all the cars running. They learn to clean engines, give tune-ups, and rebuild transmissions. They learn about the electrical, fuel, exhaust, and cooling systems.

How to print newspapers, forms, and magazines can be learned in the graphic communications course.

LEFT: Some of the members of Lockets work on signs to hang around the school to help promote school spirit.

Key Club is a service club sponsored by the Northside Kiwanis which serves both the school and the community by doing charity projects. Some of their activities include collecting money for various charities, and sponsoring school mixers. They also, of course, head up the can drive.

Lockets is also a service club—for girls. They serve as the official school representative for the Red Cross, plus help in various charities like Nora Cottage by raising money and giving parties. They are planning to adopt a child through Children, Inc. Their biggest activity is the Swim-a-Thon in March.

Cadet teaching is a class for students interested in being teachers. They go to the elementary and junior high schools to assist the regular teachers with their classes.

Have you ever gone into an office and seen a bunch of students standing behind the counter? No, they aren't in trouble . . . they are students giving their free periods to be assistants. They help secretaries and administrators in any way they can, plus learning something about how different areas of a school are run.

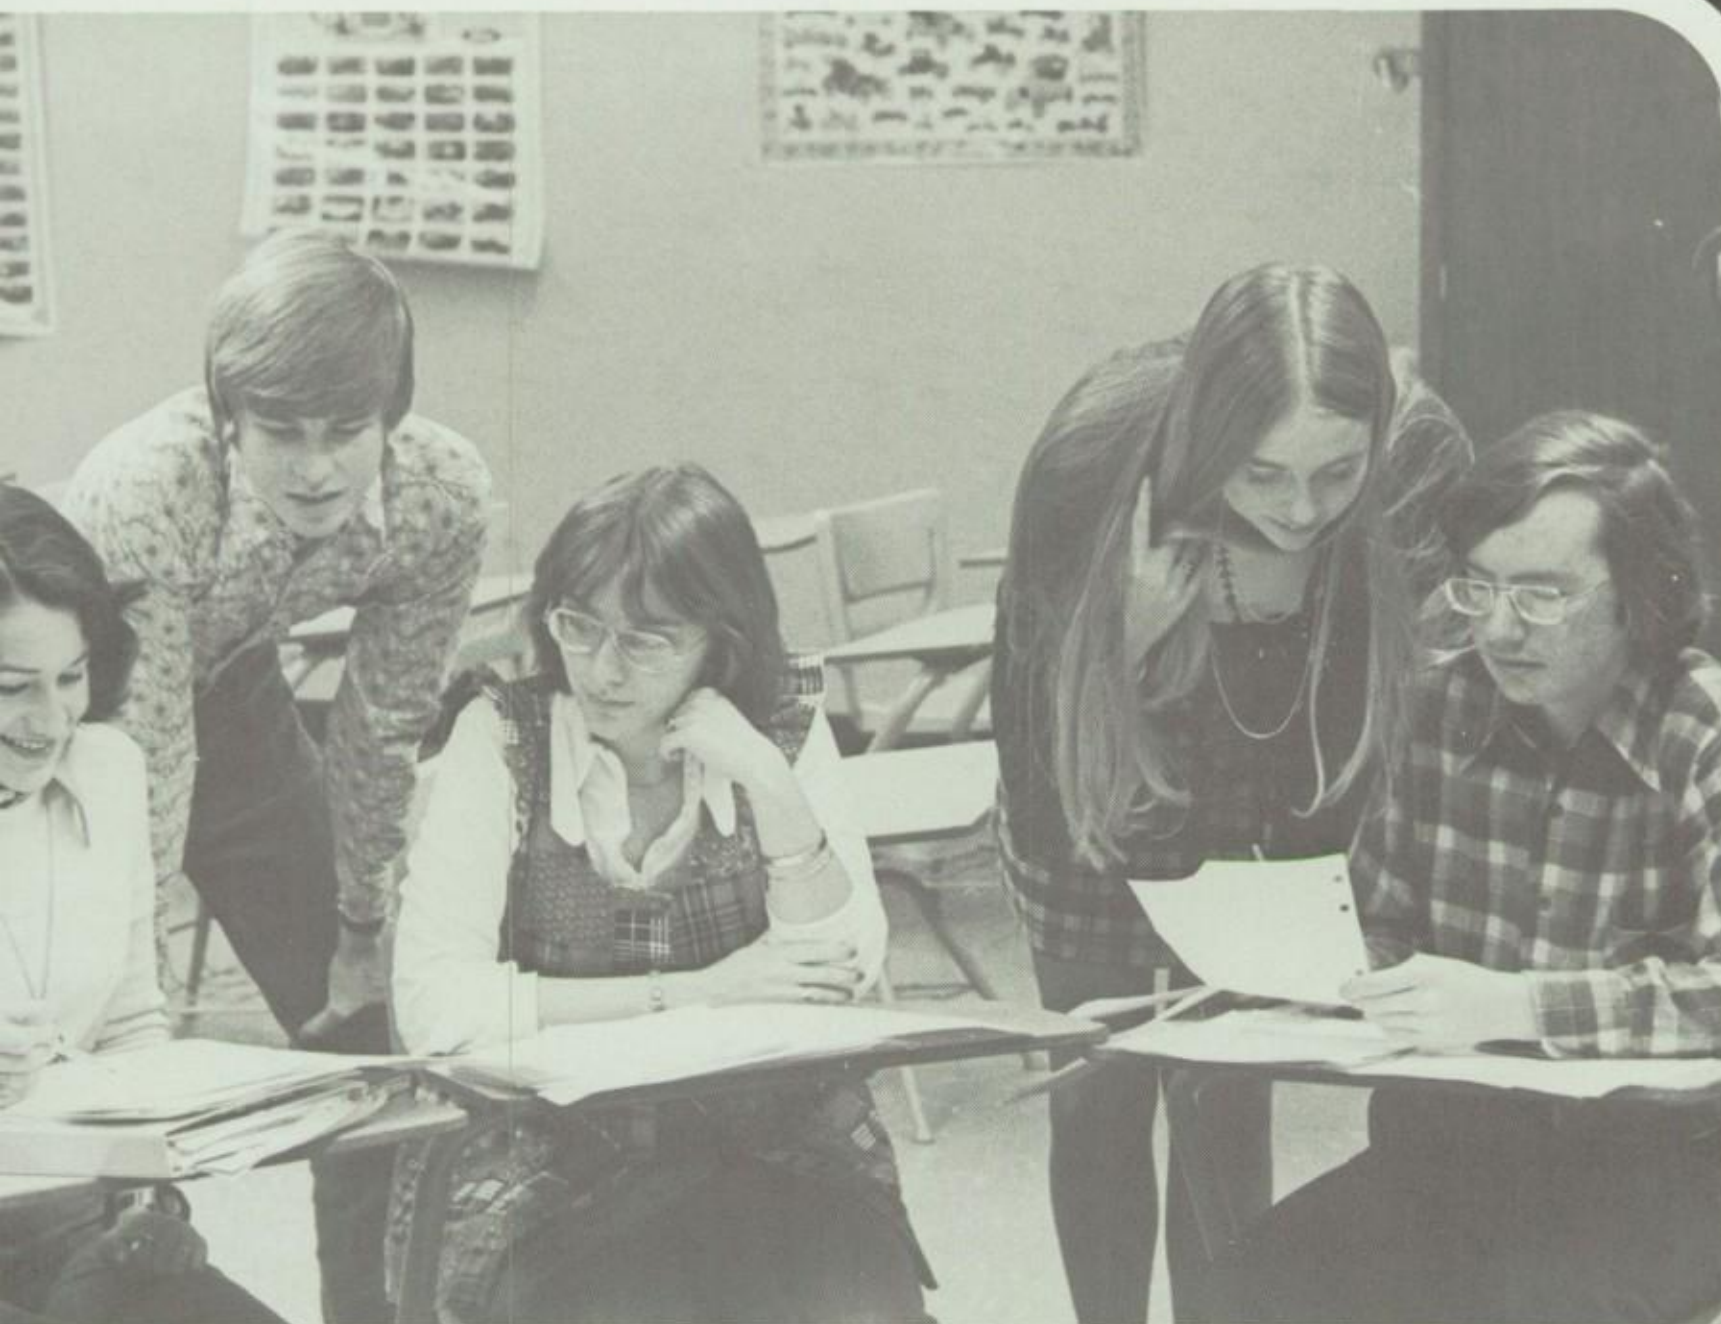

Working in the attendance, guidance, or main office, the assistants help secretaries by doing paper work, delivering passes, and helping students with their problems.

By helping in the bookstore, students can learn about selling and working with money. In the library, students are helped with anything they might need, and in the health center, they learn about medicine while helping.

The ETCHINGS IN THOUGHT staff compiles the booklet from short stories, poetry, and essays contributed by the student body.

LOWER LEFT: The jobs of main office assistants Marilee Gleason, Lesley Jones, and Cindy James are many and varied.

LEFT: Helping students like Mike Greven check out books is one of the jobs of library assistants, Jan Cornett and Neil White.

BELOW: Chris Dick, Tomacine Keough, and Marla Barnett are well aware that there is a lot of paper work in the attendance office.

STUDENT ASSTS.

A small group of talented students with handbells, as well as enthusiasm and dedication, forms one of the most unusual musical assemblies—the Bell Choir. The group does all of its own arranging and play everything from classical selections to Broadway hits. One of the highlights of the year was playing during Christmas tree lighting ceremony on the Circle.

Expressing one's self and communicating through music is an unique experience. Orchestra accomplished this and much more when they again, as always, took a first place rating in their division at the state contest. Their program consists of a variety of music from Bach to Issac Hayes.

ABOVE: Many different expressions can be found on the faces of B-Band members.

Ever feel stuffed? The bands sold Goldbars to raise money for new uniforms and instruments. One member did more eating than selling, but ended up contributing $20 of his own money to the $1,000 profit. What else do the bands do? Symphonic Wind Ensemble and Concert Bands march at football games with the majorettes performing along side. They combine with the Intermediate Band in parades such as the Veterans' Day Parade and North Central's Homecoming Parade.

All three bands participated in the Winter Pops Concert held in the N.C. Auditorium. A medley of 18 different Broadway tunes, including some from "Godspell" and "No, No Nanette," were played. Dominic Spera, from the University of Wisconsin, was the guest trumpet soloist.

ABOVE: Counterpoints perform a medley from the musical "Company" in which the girls complain about the lack of male attention.

BELOW: Accents rehearse important dance steps for "Wait 'Till the Sun Shines, Nellie" before a performance in Opus '73.

RIGHT: Counterpoints, supported by Music Men, Girls' Ensemble, and Descants, sing "Tea for Two" as part of the finale to Opus '73.

CHOIRS

SING out strong

RIGHT: Accents display their distinctive style of choreography in Opus '73 while singing "Na Na, Kiss Him Good-by."

Counterpoints, a talented mixed group, performs at many important occasions, such as the Governor's Convention and the Superintendent of Schools State Convention. The programs consist of songs like "No, No, Nanette," "Company," and "Peace, Joy, and Love." As one member commented, "We are a group of people working together to make our audiences happy through our music."

This is the second year for Accents as a mixed choir. The girls wear royal blue palazzo pants and white blouses. They have performed at the Murat Temple as well as in "Opus '73" and were very busy during the entire year with songs like "Where is the Love," "The Power and the Glory," and "Aquarius."

Girls' Ensemble, an all-girl choir, is very enthusiastic about their singing. Other songs include the "Beatles Medley" and "I Dig Rock'n Roll Music." Each long pink gown has an empire waist with flowered trim. One traditional event of the Ensemble members is the friendship circle before every performance. This circle's purpose is to give the feeling of unity and support to the entire group.

Descants are the girls in the long, light blue, flowered dresses. They sing a variety of music, some of which include songs from the musical "Cabaret," a collection from "Lost Horizon," and a popular ragtime song entitled "The Very Last Song." Because of so many performances during Christmas and spring, close friendship grew.

RIGHT: The members of Girls' Ensemble offer their rendition of "Day by Day" from the musical "Godspell" for their audience.

music is the KEY

ABOVE: Clapping hands and singing clearly, these Crescendo members swing to the beat of their rhythmic dance.

"Choreography is the thing," insists Crescendos, the newest all girl choir. Light green with silver sequin trim, their costumes flair into wide, one piece palazzo pants. The girls enjoy singing contemporary music as well as the "oldies." Since dancing is so very important to the members, they practice long hours on everything from modern to tap dancing. Also part of Crescendos is their community concern. This is demonstrated by their willingness to volunteer to be part of a fund raising project for a local television station.

The Music Men are unique in that they are an all male singing group. In their performances, the music ranges from "Godspell" to "Celebration" and most generally contains some message for the listener. Members believe they should place as much emphasis on togetherness and brotherhood as they do on musical talent.

CHOIRS

RIGHT: Sophomore Stacy Young along with four other dancers make up part of the "Angelus Corps de Ballet" for the "Messiah."

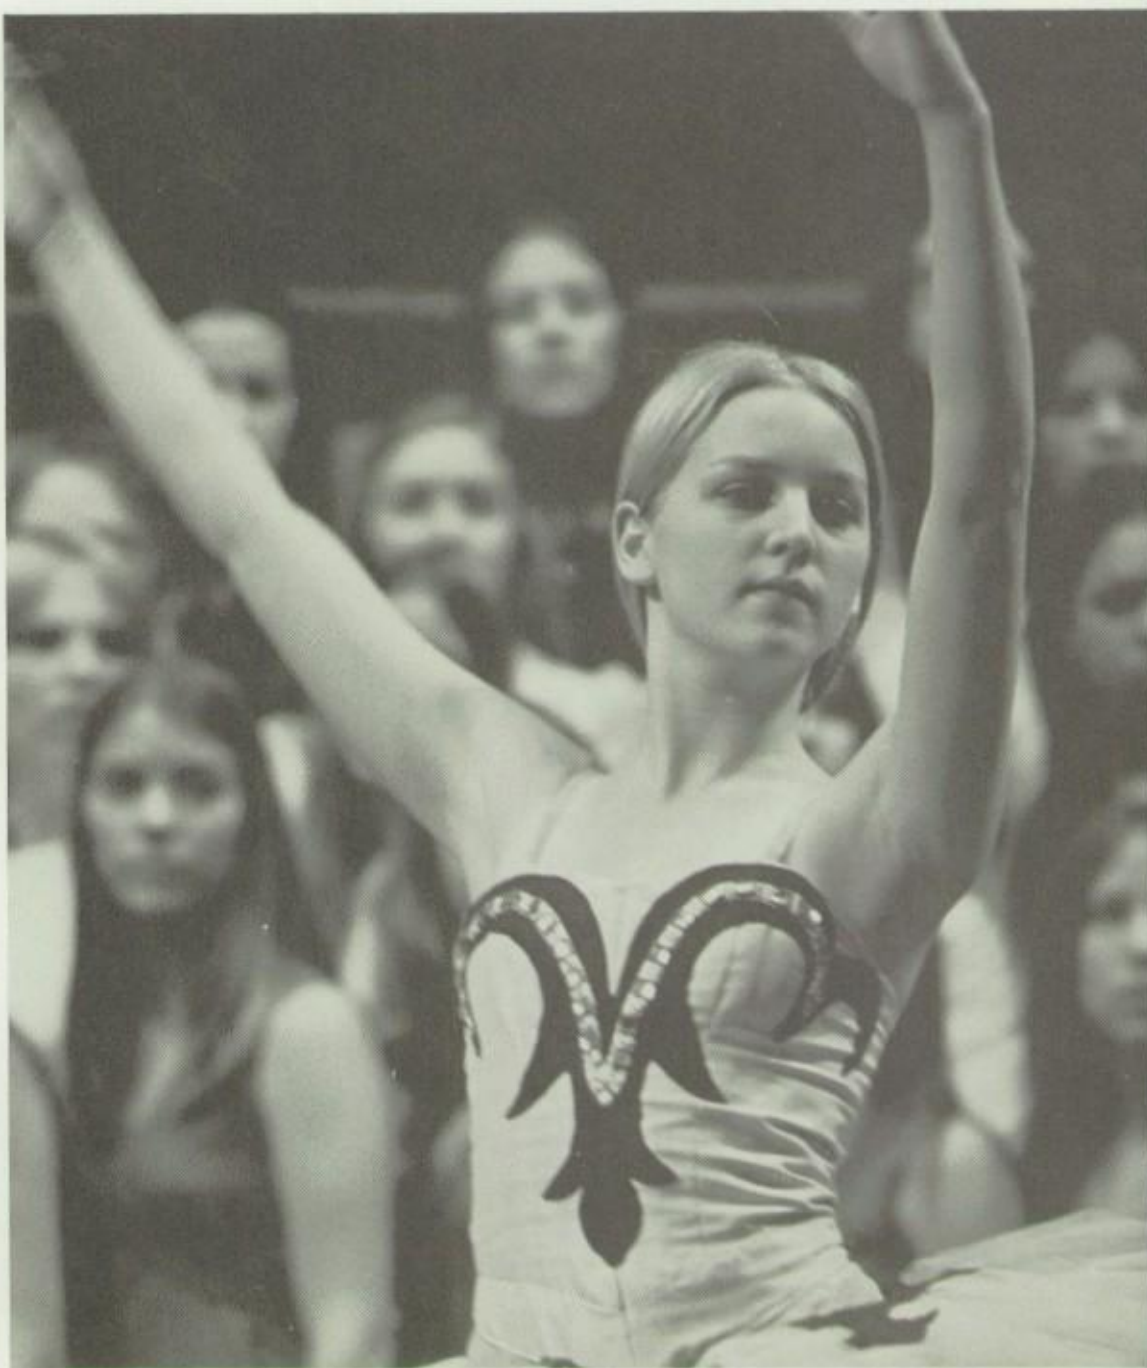

Three of the very entertaining choirs are Allegroes, Debtone, and Madrigals. These groups perform for civic and church organizations, nursing homes, luncheons, and elementary schools. The girls make lasting friendships, and by practicing singing every day, they improve their voices.

Allegroes have long, burgandy dresses. If one should happen to walk by G187 and see them doubled over like Raggedy Ann dolls, don't become upset. They're only practicing on tone quality.

Debtone, one of the oldest choirs, have long black dresses with white cuffs and collars and ties in the back. The girls have a great time singing and dancing to their jazzy music.

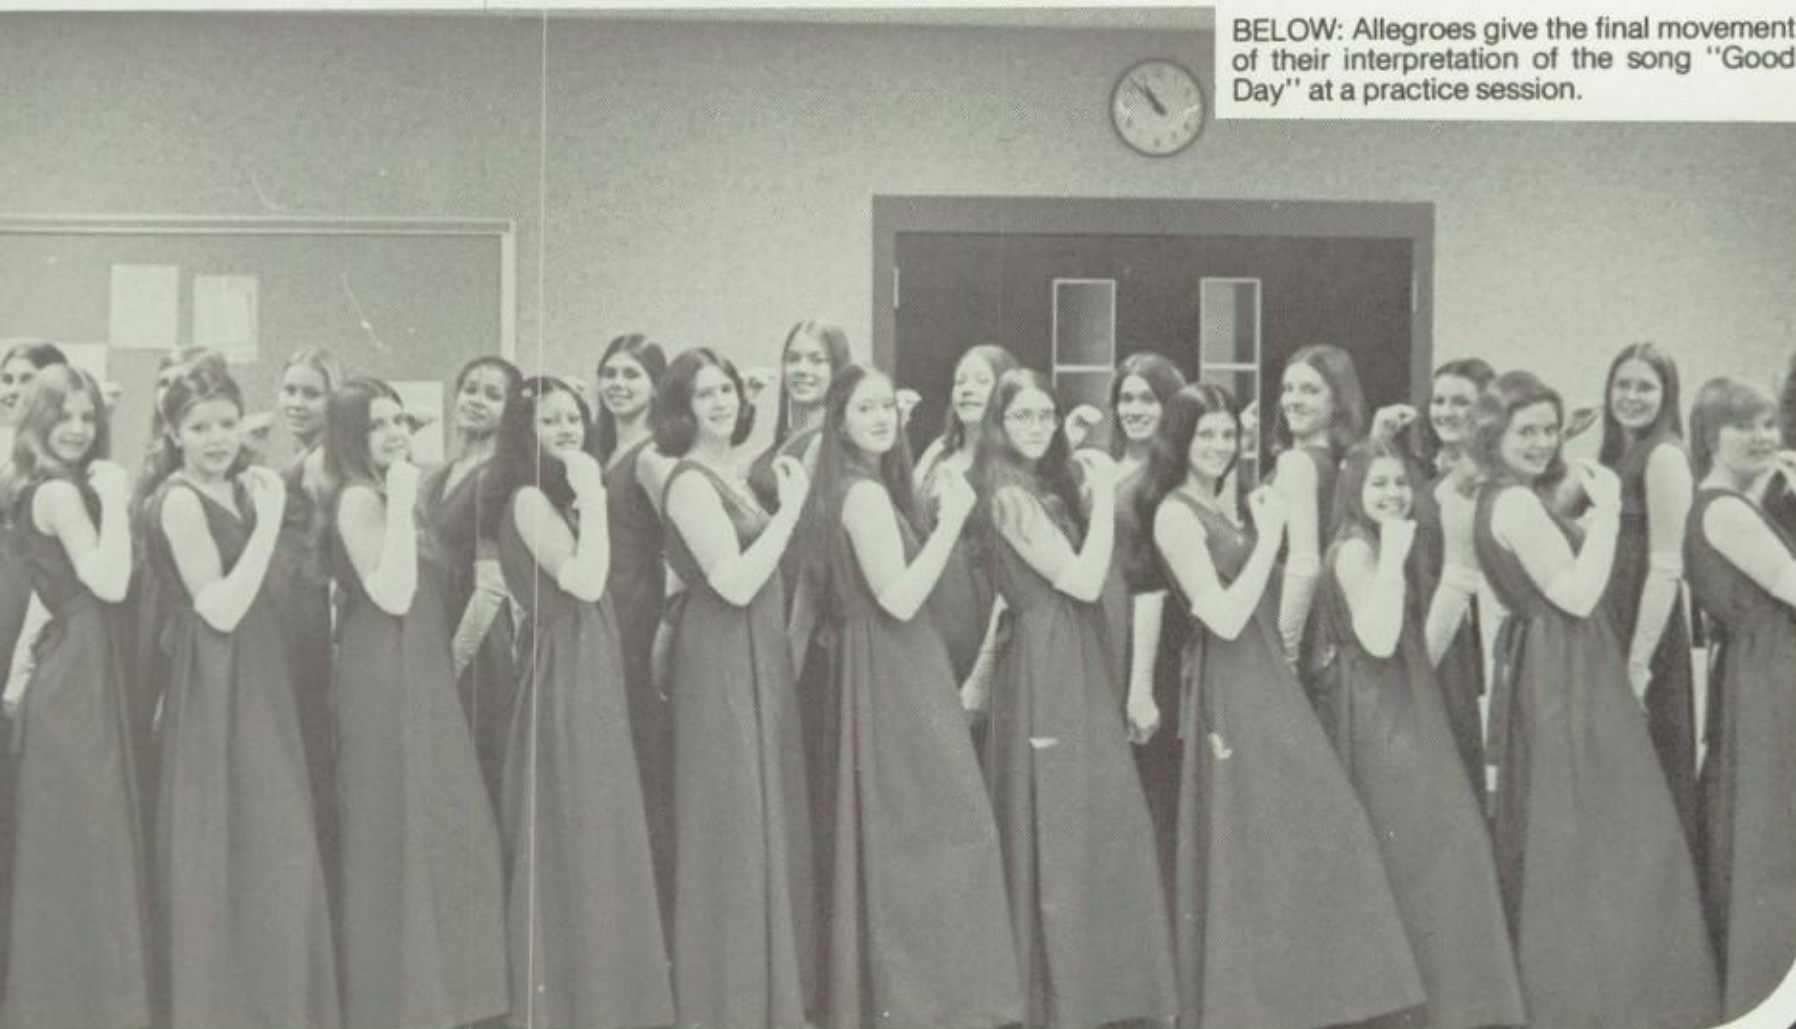

Madrigals, or the "girls in swirls," have a very exciting outfit. Half of their floor-length dresses are white while the other is red. Their performances consist mostly of classical music, including "The Rhythm of Life."

BELOW: Some of the "girls in swirls" demonstrate their candy cane-like appearance while practicing their classical music.

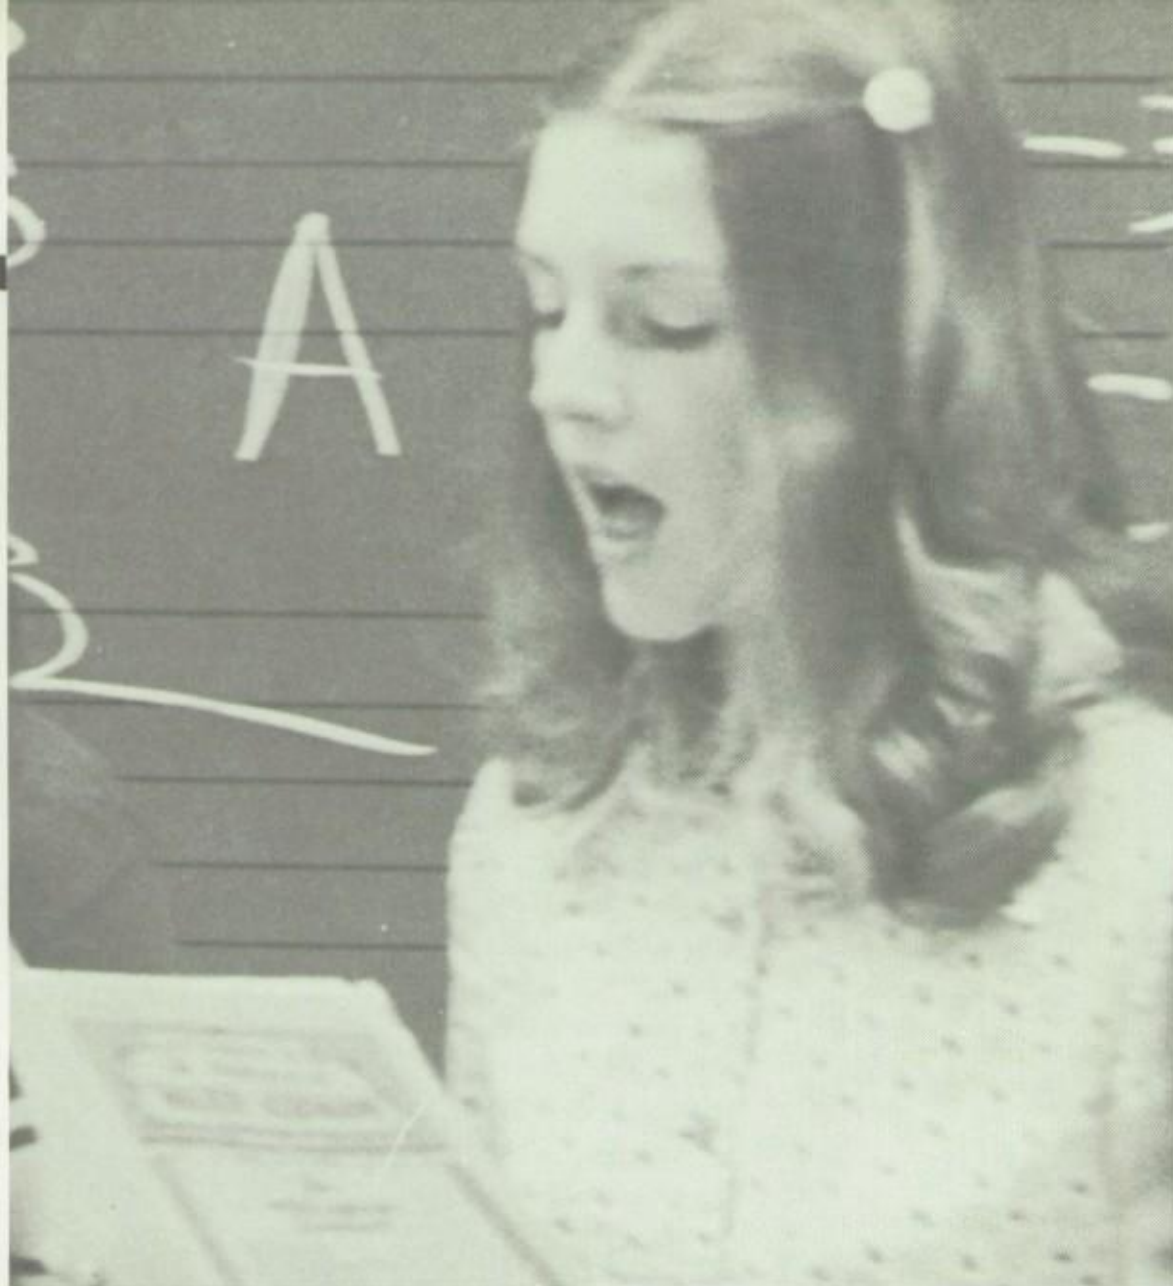

ABOVE: Debtors show that having a good time with friends is just as important to them as the practice itself.

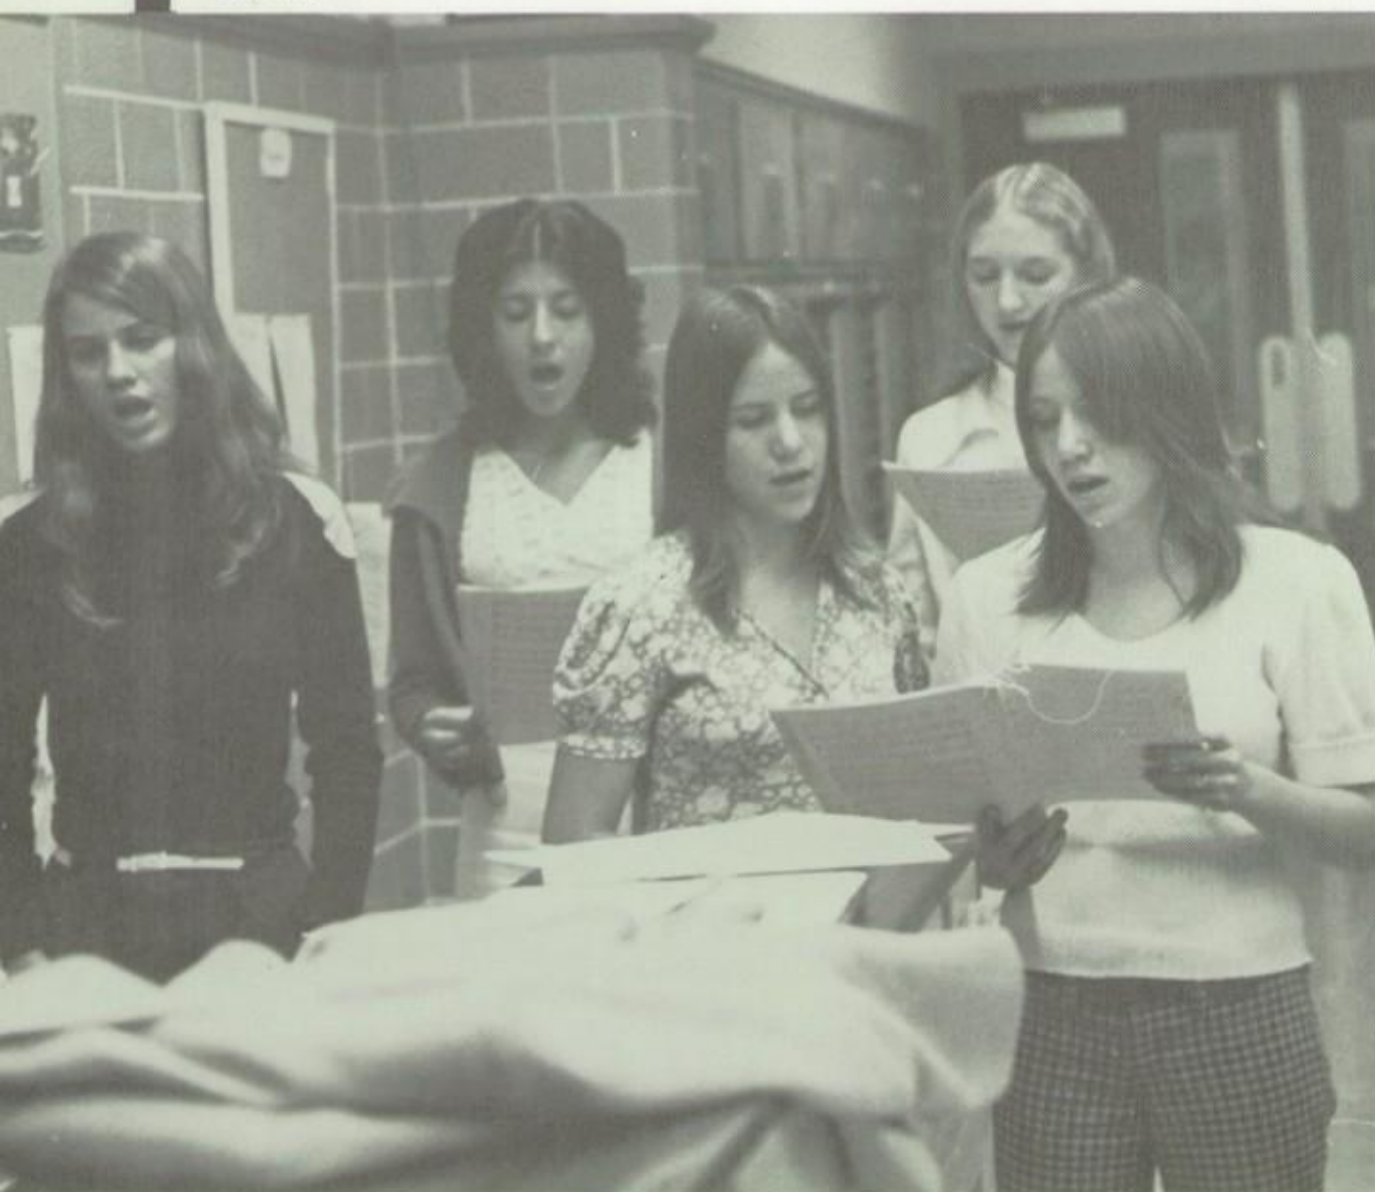

BELOW: Allegroes give the final movement of their interpretation of the song "Good Day" at a practice session.

SING do...re...mi...

Northernaires Concert Choir, Chorale, and A Cappella comprise the Chorale Union. These training choirs put their emphasis on improving individual voices and gaining experience for performances. This is accomplished through certain singing exercises and learning the proper breathing techniques. Concentration on the basic music fundamentals such as sight reading, diction, and harmonizing, is studied in all the classes.

After weeks of rehearsing, they performed in the annual Christmas program and were heard on the Christmas record.

ABOVE: Two sophomores, who are required to spend some of their physical education time in the new swimming pool, enjoy the view under the water's surface.

BELOW: Students often use school grounds for a game of football on weekends.

I've grown accustomed to this crowd of 3800 students. I feel a part of it. But, I remember when I was a sophomore making the giant step through the threshold of this small city, North Central.

I walked in, bewildered, nervous, scared . . . Then the bell rang . . . The first day of school—a swarm of people buzzing around, searching for a place to fit into the mass of people.

I saw faces, all unfamiliar to me. The student center was wall-to-wall people. I heard talking, everyone talking in their small crowds. I felt alone among 3800 people.

LEFT: Capacity crowds come back to school to cheer the Panther basketball team to another victory.

WE UNITED

Seniors rushing to be "out-a-here" look back on a busy year. The Senior Class Council sponsored the senior bonfire, and the senior square dance. Fifty cans were asked as entry fee for the senior tug of war. Most teams were from government and sociology classes, and the cans were donated to the senior class. The senior bulletin board, organized by Marti Hammonds, Allison Fleenor, and Bob Sherry, recognized outstanding seniors in a humorous way. Anne McFall donated her yard for the senior float. The float, with the motto "Rack Em Up," was part of the Homecoming pageantry.

Senioritis, a common disease around second semester, becomes acute as graduation draws near. Announcements are bought and tassels and gowns are ordered. Dress-up day and Senior Slop Day reflect an anticipating spirit as the graduation dance and breakfast plans are finalized.

Winning the can drive in good spirit, and participating in Blood Donor Day are a few of the ways the Seniors of '74 gave their time to helping others. This is why "United We Stand."

All Considered ...

Well, it isn't filet mignon, or a mouth-watering, inch-thick T-bone steak, but did you really expect that for only fifty cents? It is edible, even though it does lack on the palatable side. That substance fondly known as "glop" does, at least, fill in the gnawing hole in your innards that hits you about midday—especially if you had to run track that morning and you were exhausted. For those who dislike standing in line half the period to buy your lunches, and for those who have math tests lying in wait for them in their next class, you can always resort to chewing your fingernails.

Doodling Around

Caught between the droning maw of the slow ticking clock, the mind and hand wanders. So, out of sheer boredom, a true art develops—the cultivated art of doodling. There are several schools of this unconscious art: some scribble, some write flowing letters, others with a more artistic talent draw cartoons and objects, and there are even some who fill in the letters on their dittoes. A particularly dull lecture may not inspire the making of an A-1 student, but it does inspire the A-1 doodler in all of us.

L.V.I.M.

Looking around the school, I sometimes wonder if it has been invaded by l.v.i.m. There are times when I will go into a restroom only to find lipstick on the mirrors, towel paper thrown all over the floor, and cigarette butts clogging up the drains. I've gone to a drinking fountain to get a drink, and after turning the knob, have it spurt all over me. Why? Because some intelligent student has taken his/her gum and clogged up the spout.

I find it very hard to believe that the students doing the vandalism have nothing more constructive to do.

P.S. l.v.i.m. = little vandalistic invisible men!

In Threes

Bad luck comes in threes, as the saying goes. So in each semester the poor student is jinxed with three different plagues of six weeks tests. And then, one might expect to have tests in three classes on one day and three more the next. Is it any wonder then why students cross their fingers, wear charms, and stick pins into voodoo dolls of their teachers when the end of six weeks approaches?

Education Or Regimentation

"Education is great . . . so is freedom," says Junior Mary Basch. Many students feel they are not getting their freedom and are being programmed like a room of computers.

A group of students feel cutting classes should be allowed to an extent. "The reason administrators say they are against cutting classes is the vandalism, extortion, and drugs in the school. If we could show them we can be trusted, maybe some freedom can be earned," says Junior Connie Macri.

Students want education and freedom—why can't they get both?

LEFT: School spirit, highly requested at basketball games, is demonstrated without difficulty from the pep band.

School Spirit

It has been reported that school spirit is the possession of the Rude family alone. It has also been reported that school spirit consists only of the rah-rah pep rallies, the wearing of the red, black and white, and attending football games. Neither statement is true. School spirit is pride in the abilities and accomplishments of yourself and your fellow students, whether athletic, academic, or social. One need not wave a pom-pom or yell with their voice to show their spirit. All that is required is a little pride, cooperation, and ambition.

BELOW: If you smoke, you will eventually sink.

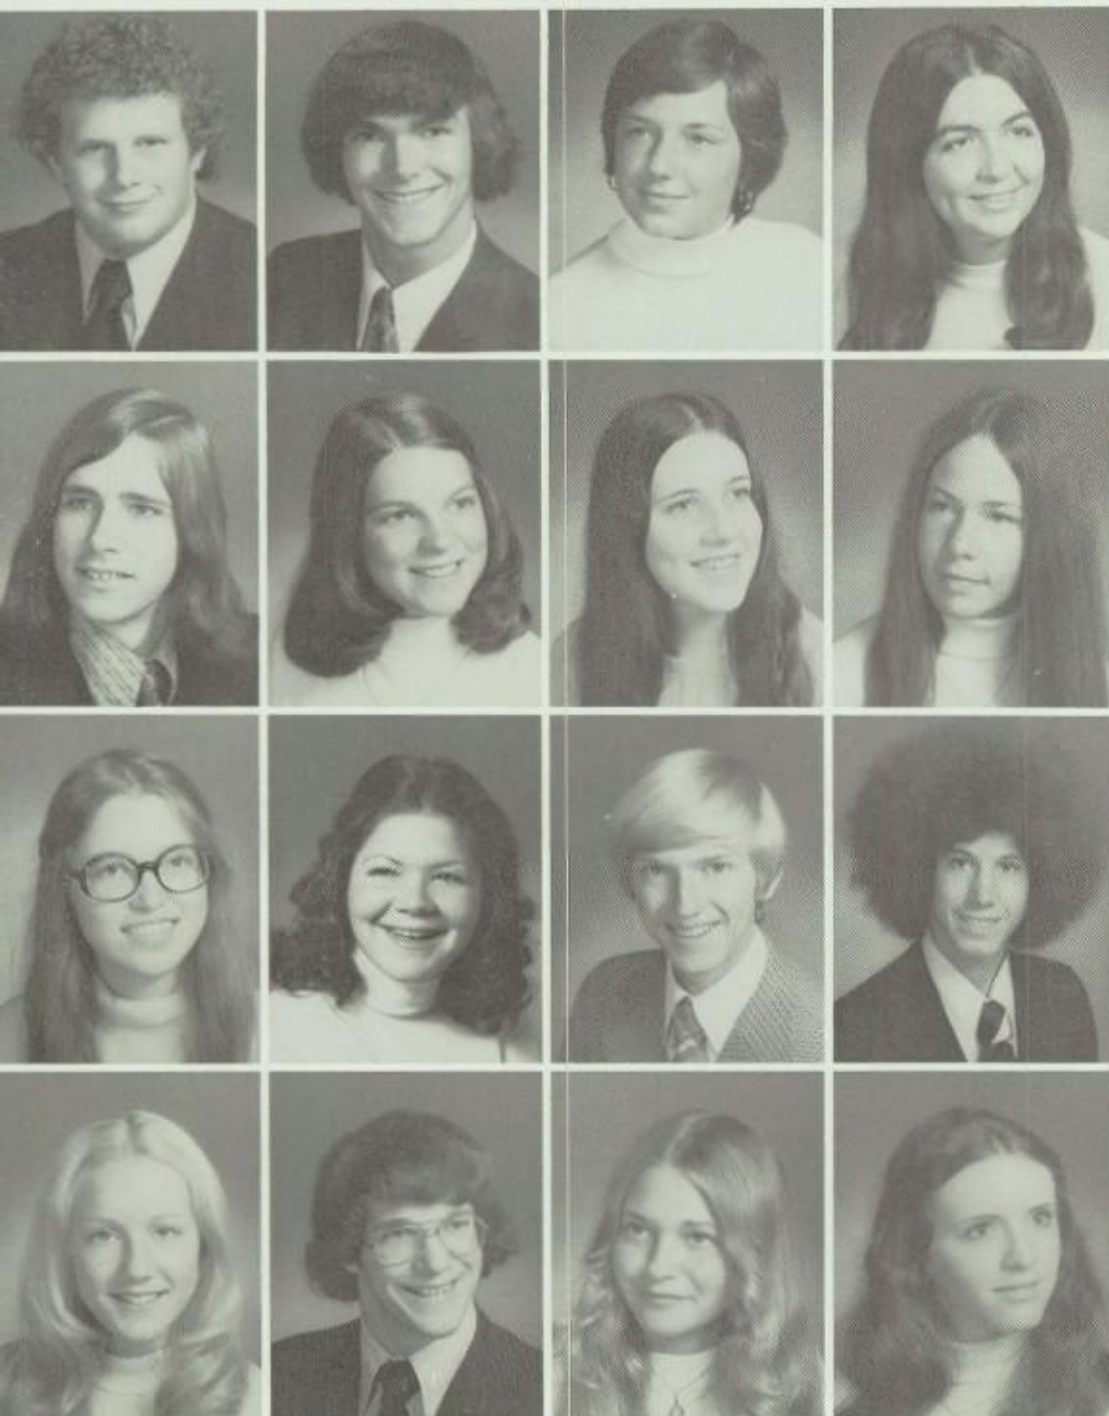

To Smoke Or Not To Smoke

Students walk into the restroom and see cigarette smoke; they go outside and see cigarette butts.

In interviews with several students it was found that several would like to see the law retracted and a smoking lounge established. They enjoy smoking and say it calms their nerves.

Others feel smoking is foolish and should be abolished. The Surgeon General reported that cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health. How can a smoking lounge be established when the administrators know how dangerous it is?

Testperation!

True scholars can study anywhere, at any time, and under any circumstances. Thus you find a few who read feverishly over their notes as the bus bounces to school. Another handful conjugate verbs while gobbling down a hamburger. Some will even go to the extent of studying during another class.

Avid scholars? Not very likely. There was probably a good movie on the tube the night before, or the gang went to a beer blast. Perhaps the homework from the previous night kept them up until two in the morning and they had to catch up on their sleep last night.

All-State Orchestra

The All State Orchestra consists of about 80 students from all over the state of Indiana, and is sponsored by the Indiana Musical Educator Association. To try-out, a tape is sent in to the judges in Bloomington, which includes a selection of scales and solos. Members for the orchestra are picked by these tapes. This year the rehearsals were held November 1 and 2 in Bloomington. They were long and hard, but it gave the students an opportunity for fun and time to see the I.U. campus. The orchestra performed once and it was free of charge. They played selections such as "Bucharoo Holiday" by Aaron Copeland and Sibelius' "Symphony No. 2."

Bat Girls

The Bat Girls are a blessing to the baseball team. These benevolent belles bestow their brains and beauty upon the team. The girls are an elite group of four plus two alternates. They are chosen by a panel of seven teachers who give them personal interviews. Bat Girls travel with the team on the bus, bearing the responsibility of the bats, helmets, and the balls. Once, when a baseball seemed to have been misplaced at an out of town game, the girls demonstrated their indispensability by buying a new ball, autographing it, and then presenting it to Mr. Bradley. Hey girls, benefit yourself and your team and become a Bat Girl!

Repertory Theater

The Repertory theater is a group of advanced students interested in working with a touring company and producing shows.

Mr. Henderson is the instructor, but the group is student orientated. They select their own plays and choose the directors and booking agents. They participate in every play by acting, building sets, or making costumes.

The class is very demanding and gives experience in all phases of the theater. The students have thirty to forty performances a year.

Womens' Lib

Menfolk are hoping with fingers crossed that this Womens' Lib doesn't get out of hand. The majority of us are grudgingly willing to concede these females equal pay for equal work and the like, but are anxious that miniskirts, bikinis, and other attractiveness will not fall by the wayside—ah, poor choice of words there. At any rate, we men are learning to take it in stride, seeing as how it doesn't appear that we are going to be able to outpace it.

Homecoming Parade

Great shades of the Mummies and Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parades! Bands playing, people parading and floats, well, floating about the school parking lots and roads. That was the scene on Homecoming day.

Of the floats made for each class, the Black Student Union, and the "Son of Rude '74", the sophomores walked away with first place. Their creation was of the Panther castle holding firmly against the Arlington Knights.

Maybe next year we'll have a giant Bullwinkle balloon!

Tin Reclamation?

If one didn't know better he'd think that he had stumbled on a World War II tin reclamation drive, what with all of this talk of "can drive" for the first semester. This probably explains why the seniors placed first in the drive, juniors second, and the unknowing sophomores in last position. At any rate, the can drive collected several thousand canned goods and distributed them to needy families and organizations.

Be Rude!

"Son of Rude '74" T-shirts are traipsing through the halls, bubbling with school spirit. Considering that Son of Rude is the senior class's answer to sagging school spirit, all of their bubbling is in due cause.

The Sons claim the lineage of "Rude Power," is the spirit group of two years past. Like their ancestors, the Rude family continues to attend most athletic events and cheer on the Panther teams.

So, if you happen to see a Son of Rude T-shirt walking by, join in a cheer and make them feel at home.

Flag Girls

The fabulous Flag Girls of North Central are a first. Yes, that's right. Only our NC has Flag Girls out of all the high schools in the country! Well, just what is a flag girl? She is someone who braves windy, cold days in a short skirt to hold the flag of a varsity baseball player. This flag sports school colors and bears the name of a varsity player. The girls march out on the baselines while the school song is being played and then hold the flags up during the National Anthem. To be a flag girl, a girl must pass a test on baseball and an interview with five teachers. Let's hope that our Flag Girls keep on flagging.

Snack Bar

It occurred to the Student Council this year that for those who stay after school until late in the evening, stomachs tend to disturb the activities. The growlings of empty stomachs echoed through the abandoned halls. If any directions are given or discussions are held, they become inaudible. So, in the interests of our stomachs and not in destroying our appetites for Mom's dinner, they opened the snack bar in the Student Center between semesters. They're probably up for re-election. They'll be kissing babies next—but that's a different story.

Talking Locker?

If you're wondering why this copy is titled "Talking Locker," it's because the editor here is a bit strange and wanted a copy written about one. Well, being a lowly subordinate type person on the staff, I'm stuck with trying to make sense of it. And being the lowly subordinate person that I am, my paper is filled with more doodlings than talking lockers. To make this worth the paper it's on by using a journalistic ploy, I'll add this bit of news—lockers do not talk, regardless of what any editor may say in a fit of passion.

Stricter Rules Govern Students

Our school, like others, has its share of vandalism and discipline problems. Stolen library books, damaged shrubbery and bushes, and writing all over the restroom doors are all quite common.

Discipline problems are another concern. This includes such things as attendance, drug abuse, smoking, obscene language and conduct, fighting, driving and parking regulations, and social clubs. Mr. Cloncs's strict enforcement of these rules at the beginning of the year made students for once see the importance of them.

Jobs Everywhere!

Work, work, work! That's what is heard from everyone. There are some students who have more work than others, because they have extra part-time jobs.

The reasons for students to have jobs are varied, but it all boils down to one thing: The need for money. Boys need money for dates and girls need it for the latest fads in clothes. Most seniors have jobs to get a little extra spending money for college, while juniors need to keep up with their new cars. Sophomores have to please their parents by taking on some responsibilities now that they are in high school. Whatever the reason, the need for money means the requirement of a job added to an already busy enough schedule.

Running in Style

Shoes are one of life's complications of completing today's dress code. There ranges everything from old tennis shoes which really keep the toes of an individual bare and cold to high heel styles hardly giving the foot a chance to breathe. The big hard soled boot can be heard among the clomps and clashes of bustling feet in traffic. Great big clogs and short floppy thongs break the typical fashion barrier of the dirty sandal shoes and the scuffed loafer designs.

For Better; For Worse

Styles of today are constantly changing. All around town there are bow ties, big and bright with argile socks, flashy and light. Pants are cuffed, or there are just plain jeans, and jackets are worn with almost anything. Saddle shoes and great big clogs find their place among these styles. The big bulky sweaters and short colorful vests have made this fashion parade one of the best.

Graduation

Seniors have the advantages over juniors and sophomores when it comes to tiring of going to school for thirteen years. The lofty, imperial ones can look forward to that day in early June, and thus, pull through the year. There are those who are apt to graduate in January. They will take up a job, go to school, or just loaf about a semester, and thus, grinningly, be done with school once and for all.

Sounds grand, but they will soon learn that getting up each morning to face a day at work or college or television gets just as tiresome as school ever was. One soon learns how accustomed they are to the routine of school and maybe even how much they liked it.

Will We Make It?

One sometimes wonders whether he's going to make it to school and back alive. First, there is the mental torture that comes with the heaping of homework, and then, there are school lunches gnawing at your stomach. But there is more graphic demonstration of lurking danger when your bus barrels through an intersection with the brakes pressed to the floor. Kids still yawning away the morning grogginess suddenly snap alert in mild astonishment as the bus narrowly misses several lanes of on-rushing traffic. This kind of stunt may add excitement to the day, but considering the several accidents around the city early this fall, we think we can wake up in other ways.

Stage Band

For audiences who enjoy jazz, extra-curricular Stage Band provides a rare treat. Twenty-two students, auditioned in early September, were selected for this performance year by director Mr. Rhinesmith. With an emphasis upon the brass instruments and saxophones, the band adds a piano, guitar, bass, and vibes, along with drums to give their musical selection a jazzy dance band sound.

During the year the band plays for Junior Spec, convocations, the Winter Pops Concert, dances, contests, and outside concerts.

The Junior Class stamped through an active year. Starting the year off, the juniors worked hard on their Homecoming float and then later captured second place in the can drive. Mid-year was centered around the Junior Bash, a costumed square dance. In March, students gave their time, effort, cooperation, enthusiasm, and talents to make the annual Junior Spectacular a success. The Junior Prom served to top off another year's activities.

The Junior Class Council was presided over by Bob Lee. Kathy Evans ably succeeded vice-president Johnie Kirkham after she moved from the district. Secretary Dee Cee Murdock and treasurer Paul Wang capably filled the class officer ranks.

BELOW: Corky Lamb and Rick Towle worked hard to put Spec together.

BELOW: The students in "Convention '75" show what a political campaign is like.

The Juniors in the class of '75 presented the 18th annual Junior Spectacular on March 14, 15, and 16. A total of seven acts tried out in January and four were chosen for the final performance. Spec was presented with the help of the Junior Class Council, faculty sponsors, and Corky Lamb and Rick Towle, the student coordinators.

The Mafia's income started running low, so they tried selling some pizza in Act I, "Godfather Knows Best," written by Bob Lee, Sandy Over, and Liz Shortridge.

The cast of "Fudge, Fudge" showed how life goes in a world where kids are dominated by adults. This act was written by Vanessa Anderson, Augustavia Johnson, Collette LaRue, and Gary Rice.

In the Kingdom of Leap-a-lot, Princess Snowilocks fell in love with a prince who turned out to be a frog. But all ended "Hoppily Ever After," written by Mary Beth Oblinger and Lesley Sarkesian.

"Convention '75" was a story about what goes on behind the scenes at a political convention. Act IV was written by Claire Brunner, Susan Fansler and Alan Ray.

Movies?

Are movies worth seeing? How much excitement can you get for $2.50?

Kids at North Central say some movies are worth watching, such as Ten Commandments, A Touch of Class, Enter the Dragon, Cabaret, and 40 Carats. Most said that 40 Carats was the best movie this year, because it had a happy ending.

Students also feel that their $2.50 can be spent on something better than blood, guts, shooting, killing, and rape, just to name a few.

Let's Go Read A Book

Mysteries, novels, westerns, and science fiction always keeps a bookworm supplied with enjoyment. As the sly worm creeps to the famous Agatha Christie and Edgar Allan Poe mysteries; he halts to explore Mario Piazos' Godfather. Getting involved in the rough time of cowboy westerns keeps many bookworms occupied for hours. Adventure beckons him onward as the days of the future are full of new and exciting discoveries. The familiar Grapes of Wrath, Crucible and Animal Farm are still well known works but this bookworm has found better nuts for his enjoyment.

Shine On

The magic box glares immediately into the night. The little tykes sit before it and watch bug-eyed "The Uncle Jerry Show." In the afternoon, Mother watches tearfully as Harold's third wife's black-sheep brother must undergo a serious operation with an alcoholic surgeon. At six o'clock dinner is delayed because the flashing news reports are an undeniable necessity to life. At night, the mind boggles under the myriads of detective shows. McLunan has told us the TV is a boost to mankind. We wonder . . .

Bluegrass Music Replaces Rock

In the past, rock music has been popular with teenagers. Although this trend has not died, bluegrass music has become a new style liked by many age groups. When attending a bluegrass concert, everyone seems to enjoy it and some teenagers like it better than rock. There really isn't a set answer for "What is bluegrass music?" One might say it is a combination of different types of music, but the answer is left for you to decide.

Put Your Bod Into It

People are putting their bods into their hobbies. Some teens are still collecting objects such as rocks or shells, but the trend is going more to sports, and having fun.

Belinda Hanna enjoys tap and ballet, which can keep one physically fit. Going along with these are skating and tennis, which are also very popular.

John Toffolo's main interest, as with many other guys, is music. Following close behind are science and various sports.

Many teachers find time for hobbies too. Miss Staffieri enjoys traveling, sewing and reading, while Mr. Siegel likes hiking, biking, gardening, and sports.

Energy Crisis

Can you spare me a gallon? With an energy crisis looming by the gas pumps, drivers are being cautioned from all over to conserve gasoline.

Some methods of conserving gas are to have an annual tune-up, forget the air conditioner, replace faulty spark plugs, reduce speed to 50 m.p.h., avoid idling, and keep tires properly inflated. Perhaps if everyone will follow this, we'll pull through.

Brrr!

The snow fell and fell, giving students an extra two days for winter vacation. The first snow came on Wednesday, December 12, and many people wondered if it would ever stop.

Students waiting for rides at the end of the day had good entertainment. The teachers trying to leave were stuck! Quite a few teachers are in debt to Mr. Harrison for getting them out of the snow and ice which had been falling for the past eight hours.

SHOOTING OFF

"If English is our language, how come my parents never understand me?"

Language is changing just like styles of clothes. Some words become fad words, that only a selection of people understand. Other expressions spread from college campuses to high schools. At the speed at which kids make up words, it's no wonder parents can't keep up.

STREAKING-n. Running game which requires an attire of a necktie and tennis shoes.

SMASHED-adj. Resulting condition similar to that of being run over by a Mac truck.

PLATFORMS-pl.n. Descended from stilts that fit snugly around entire foot.

FREAK-OUT-v./adj. Act whereby one loses his head only mentally.

RIGHT: Dave Shanafelt must have cracked a good joke 'cause he's laughing hard.

BELOW: "Oh, you're kidding." Margaret Gavit is questioning Andy Richardson.

LEFT: You can even laugh in a German class if you understand the language.

BELOW: What can you say when you're about to get your picture taken?

"What is the best way to unite a class?" This question is typical of many Sophomore Class Council members. Their main objective is to create functions in order to bring their class together for upcoming years.

They started this union of their class with the selection of council members, and then participated in the can drive. They provided for the school a Christmas tree that was decorated and enjoyed by the student body. The annual Valentine Dance provided a chance for any sophomore to become involved in committee work to make the dance a successful event. The soPhomores look forward to their Junior Spec functions and also to their class ring selections. All of these activities should provide for the class a chance to work together better than ever before.

BELOW: Nancy Joseph reads the morning announcements with careful thought.

Bass Or Soprano

"Good morning. These are the daily morning announcements."

Saying this gave Andy Tavel "a feeling of power and authority," even the time he had a conversation broadcasted. Tom Bauer liked being a voice at North Central, even though his voice betrayed him, and said that there was a game at "Finkle Hield House." Once he told the school to "rise for the morning announcements."

Women's Lip got in there as Dona Vollrath wanted to liven up the announcements, and Nancy Joseph just liked to talk.

Bass or soprano, they all were great and added a lot to everyone's school year.

Secret Pals

Zoro has competition. Not the run-'em-through-the-guts-with-a-sabre competition, but the anonymous dropping of small gifts in one's locker every once in a while.

In several classes and clubs, students are picking secret pals. The students enjoy being mysterious and secretive so no one will find out who is their secret pal. Like Zoro's "Z" slashed upon the nearest object, the letters "SP" are left, leaving one to wonder "Who could have left me this?"

Energy Crisis

Thermostats were turned down, rumors of a month-long winter vacation, and more closings during the coldest times—all because of the energy crisis. In November, the school responded to the crunch by lowering the school's heating to 65 degrees during the night. Also, some doors leading outside were kept closed to retain the heat.

Naturally, there were some complaints, but the overall attitudes were good. With sweaters and a few inconveniences people were comfortable and very happy.

1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, . . . Not Much To Say

Have you ever tried to waste quite a few lines of space without really saying anything? This is an extremely difficult task. This is especially true when it cannot have any obscenities in it—at least for me this is a difficult task. I have the mind of a lavatory wall. At any rate, wastage can be accomplished through redundancy and/or repeating everything.

Keep Waiting

After waiting over sixteen years to get a license, it seems pretty hard to accept the fact that we can now drive the car, whenever or wherever we feel like driving. If students and adults alike would drive in carpools when going to the same place and use a little more sense when driving, it is probable that this crisis will soon be over.

Vacations

During vacations, while some people go to Florida or Colorado or Alaska or Chicago, some students stay home. Just because a person stays home doesn't mean he will have a bad time. Some students work on hobbies such as needle-point or rug hooking, while others build airplanes. Another favorite pastime for a student home during vacation is talking on the telephone. The conversations are usually about a girlfriend or boyfriend or just a little bit of gossip. One of the most favorite past-times is watching soap operas in the afternoon. Will Althea live? I sure hope so!

The Promoters

Everywhere I turn I see a sign or a billboard or a newspaper ad describing something that's going on. A sale at Glendale, a new movie playing a neighborhood theater, a musical showing at Clowes Hall, a basketball game—something different every day.

I must not be the only one who sees all this advertising, because no matter where I go, I see so many people from school that it makes shopping or the movies seem like an extension of North Central.

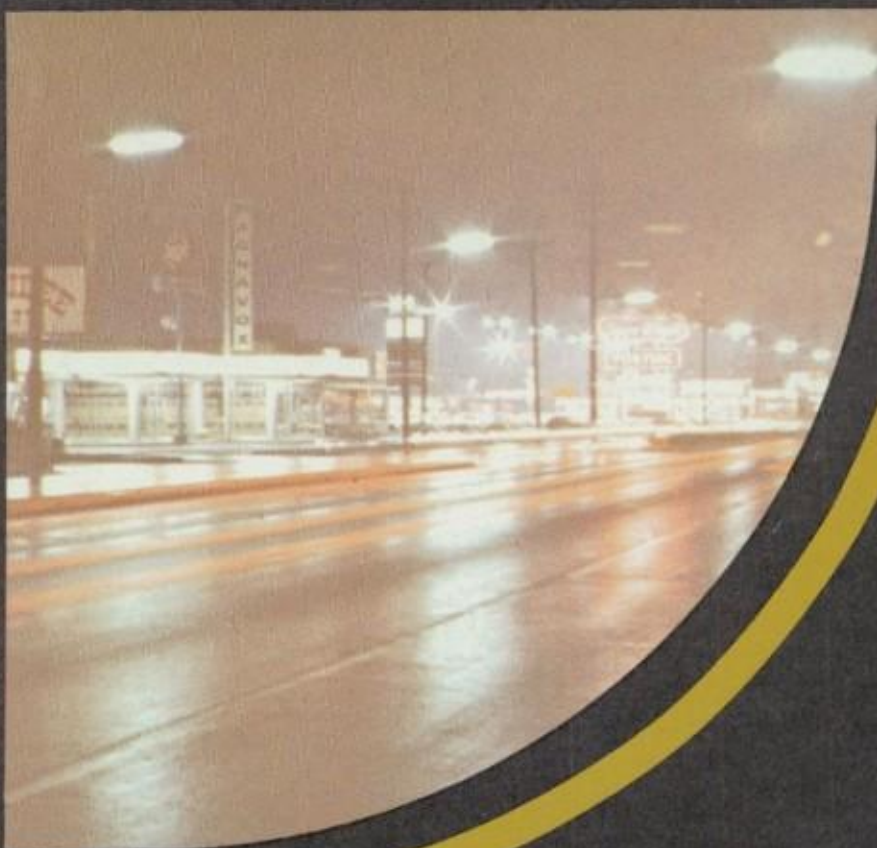

With so many people roaming the halls of North Central it would be impossible for me to be friends with everyone. But, I can be an acquaintance to many of them.

BELOW: The Indianapolis streets seem to be completely deserted on this rainy October evening.

All Around Town

Look around! It is hard to believe how big our community has grown in the past few years. Everything from office buildings to playgrounds have been built.

Deserted corn fields are developing into a variety of apartments and shopping centers. The new Castleton Square Mall is conveniently located for everyone.

A touch of uniqueness makes the College Park Pyramids quite a landmark for the business area.

St. Vincents Memorial Hospital has added a bright future for the Northsiders. The hospital's dedication ceremony was held in early fall with the North Central Band playing at the festivities.

The schools keep up with the changing times by installing new playground equipment used by the students and younger children around the metropolitan area.

FLOWERLAND

You're a senior! The year you waited for so long! Don't let your first portrait be ruined by inexperienced photographers. Go to Photo Reflex Studios, 8th floor—Ayres downtown and Glendale; call 262-2435.

PAUL HARRIS

All of the latest fashions for young women can be found in the variety of clothes at Paul Harris. We have something for every mood, every day, every season, for everyone. Look for us in Nora, Castleton, and other major shopping centers around Indianapolis.

ABOVE: Janet Cooper enjoys looking at the great assortment of accessories that can be found at all stores.

Volkswagon North

Where can you find beetles, bugs and all sorts of things? Volkswagon North can show you them all, plus great VW cars and buses. Just call 844-0151 or come on out to 10101 North Meridian, where the VW people will be waiting for you.

LEFT: Nora Apothecary attendants are there to serve you.

NORA APOTHECARY

If things are not going so well, then come to Nora Apothecary. They might just have the thing to do the trick. Nora Apothecary is there to serve you and your family with any prescription or non-prescription item. Located at 1101 86th Street, it seems to be the only true drugstore around. Call: 251-9547.

Good ol' home cookin'. That's what Hollyhock

Hill is like. It's a family style atmosphere for your whole family or a romantic hideaway for two. They have a cozy fireplace for that homey feeling that adds a touch of warmth to any dinner. If you want meals like mother used to make, come to Hollyhock, 8110 North College Avenue, 251-2294.

Hollyhock Hill

ABOVE: Seniors Val Davis and John Fleck, out for an evening, give a toast to the fine food, excellent service, and pleasant surroundings at the Hollyhock Hills Restaurant.

Everyone knows that North Central is the #1 school, so the yearbook staff must be the #1 staff. But no one knows how they came to be so. I'll let you in on a little secret that only the staff knows now, but we'll let you in on it just the same. It's all because they have a #1 man, Mr. Dick Kennard, the Indiana Representative for Newsfoto Yearbooks, San Angelo, Texas. The Newsfoto people are #1 yearbook specialists, and because they're the best, North Central goes the best every time.

McSoley PHARMACY

For all your family and personal needs come to McSoley's Pharmacy. We have all medicines for whatever ails you, plus bandages for where it hurts. Many special gifts for certain people in your life may also be found here. Stop in and browse around. We're located at 6221 Allisonville Road; or to phone in your prescription, call 255-2419.

YEARBOOKS

LEFT: The editors of the NORTHERNER want to express their thanks to Newsfoto Yearbooks and their representative for being #1.

RIGHT: Senior Diane Pike stands by the Continental Die sign found on the lawn in front of the company.

Continental Die Set Company manufactures the bases, or die sets for ultimate products in aircraft, automotive and household appliances. Continental Die Set Company and Engineered Models Corporation are both located at 6450 State Road 37, North. Engineered Models is a sheet metal fabricating plant which is supplying major aircraft companies with precision parts of high quality and performance. Both companies will welcome an opportunity to serve you: phone 251-1251.

Four Play

Ski ok, with Fourplay. Have you ever wanted to ski? It's not hard to learn but it's always better to learn right the first time. Don't use old hand-me-down equipment that was only good for your big brother. Get a new set of skis and all the extras at Four Play, where it's fun to look at the ski outfits and equipment. While you're there take a look at all the other sports equipment and clothes. If you need sporting goods, Four Play has the finest of any store, 1357 West 86th Street, Greenbriar Shopping Center or call 257-7316.

Whew, it's hot! You could get a nice cold glass of water to cool you down, but it only helps for a few minutes. You could find a lake and jump right in, but that's impractical. Or you could go to a community pool and find a spot somewhere in the water between the masses of people. But wouldn't it be nice to have a pool in your own back yard to use any time you feel the urge for a swim? If you're looking for just that, come to Terry Pool, 6111 Broadmoor Plaza, or just call 293-1250.

RIGHT: Want a pool in your backyard? The Terry Pool Company will gladly put it in for you.

Terry Pool Co.

Atlas Supermarket

Imagine a dinner for two, candlelight, and a lousy dinner! If you would have shopped at Atlas Supermarket, the dinner would have been as romantic as the rest of the evening. The fine deli and meat department is just one speciality of Atlas Supermarket. They have every food for every taste, for Atlas is not just another food store, it's a feast! Come and see for yourself at 720 East 54th Street, or for a food basket delivery, call 255-6800.

RIGHT: The customers enjoy shopping in the friendly surroundings they find at the Atlas Supermarket.

RENÉE'S FRENCH DELICATESSEN

Feel like French Food tonight? Dine at Renee's French Delicatessen. At night, dine by reservation in antique rooms, 839 E. Westfield Blvd. Weekly hours are 11 to 10 Mon. thru Thurs. and weekends 11 to 11 Fri. and Sat. Or any day order a carryout by calling 251-4142 or 255-0863.

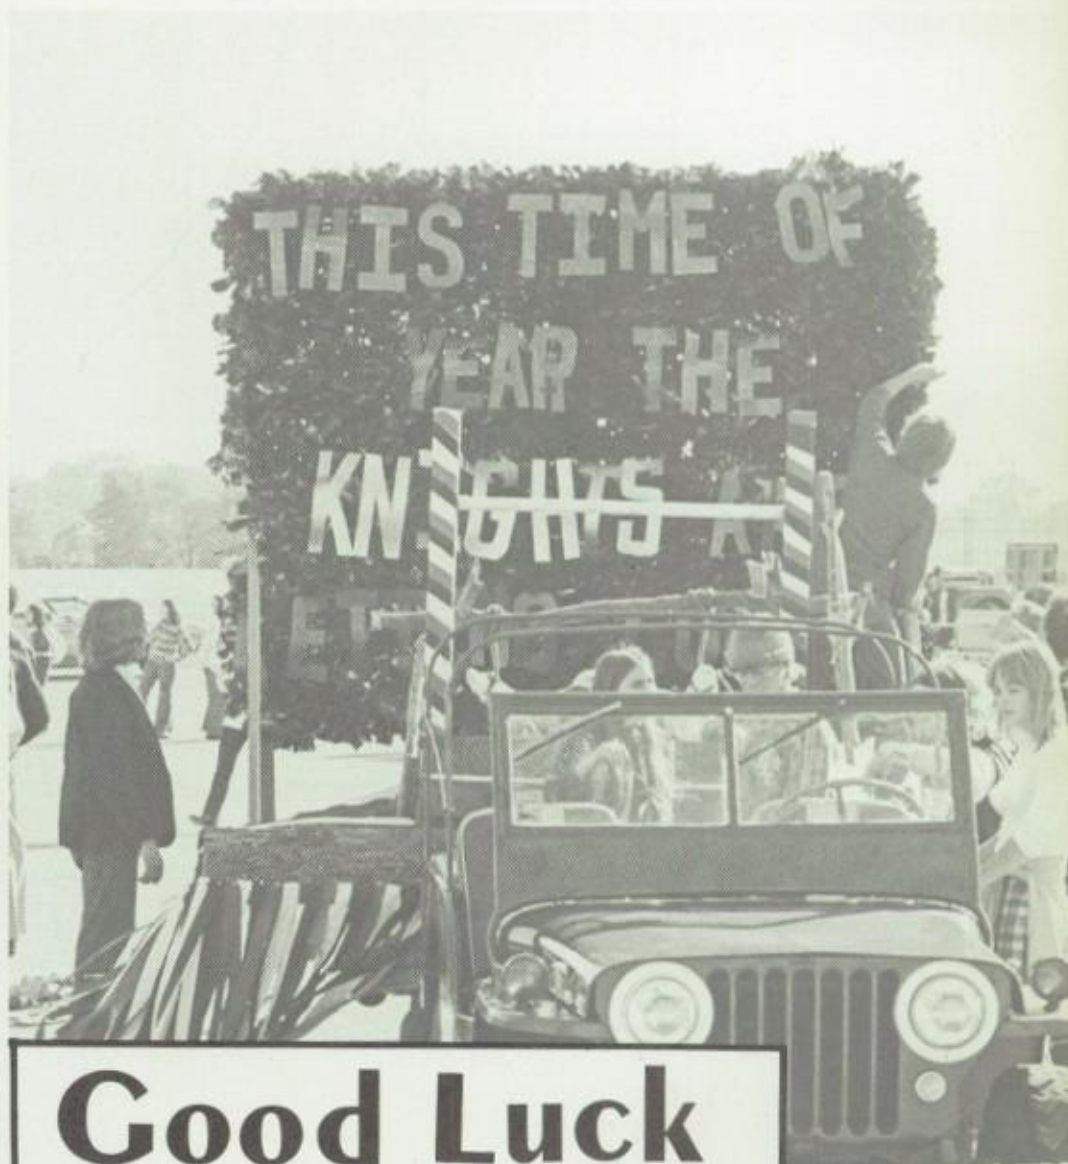

RIGHT: For an after school snack, Seniors Barb Moehlenkamp and Debbie Dellen go to Renee's and choose from a variety of goodies.

Perkin's Gallery of Homes would like to introduce to you their newly located firm, the Castleton Plaza Gallery. They are proud to present to you their new collection of masterpieces from which to select a new treasure of a home. If buying, selling or just looking around, let Tom Perkins help you out. Call 849-7722 or come out to the new Castleton Plaza Gallery, 6214 E. 82nd, and talk to a sales representative.

HOME ENTERTAINMENT CENTER

A teenager's prize possession is usually his stereo or record player. Why should you use the old family stereo when you can get your own stereophonic system at Pavilion Magnavox, in Castleton Square Mall? They have everything from portable record players to color T.V.'s, stereos and home entertainment centers. Come on out to the mall, 6020 E. 82nd Street or call 849-4885.

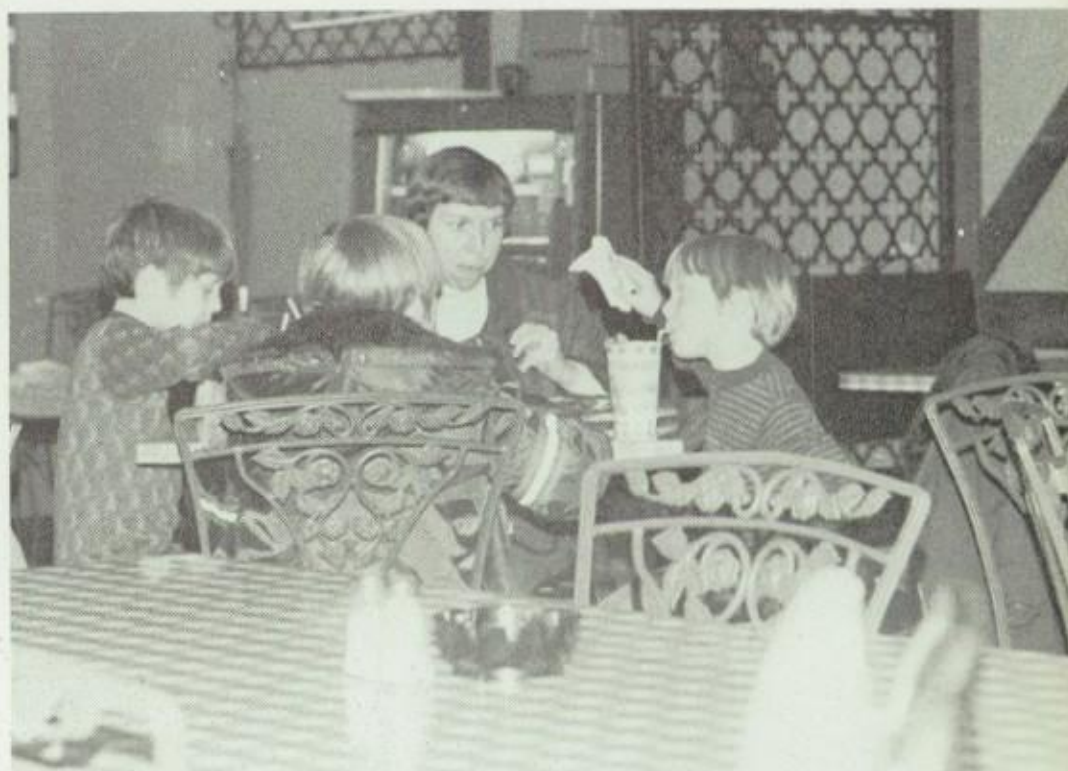

PAVILION MAGNAVOX

RIGHT: Eating at Pasquale's Pizza Restaurant, a family can find "food fun for everyone."

There is no other place than Pasquale's for eating Italian foods, plus stromboli, ravioli, spaghetti, or a hoagie. It's the place with food fun for everyone, at 6235 Allisonville Road. At Pasquale's you can eat on a checker-topped table or carry it out. Call 257-0964 or 257-1364.

BELOW: Sophomore Dave Leslie, who takes flying lessons, shows one of the planes to Junior Karen Kitterman.

Have you ever wanted to fly, not just go for a ride, but fly the plane yourself? Anyone can learn. Let the Eagle Creek Aviation Center, FAA-VA approved flight school, show you how. Call 293-6935.

RIGHT: Opening the store for the day, Seniors Holly Mahrtdt and Gaye Zaring greet their customers with a friendly smile.

RIGHT: The Bu Staff is planning an upcoming attack on the administration building.

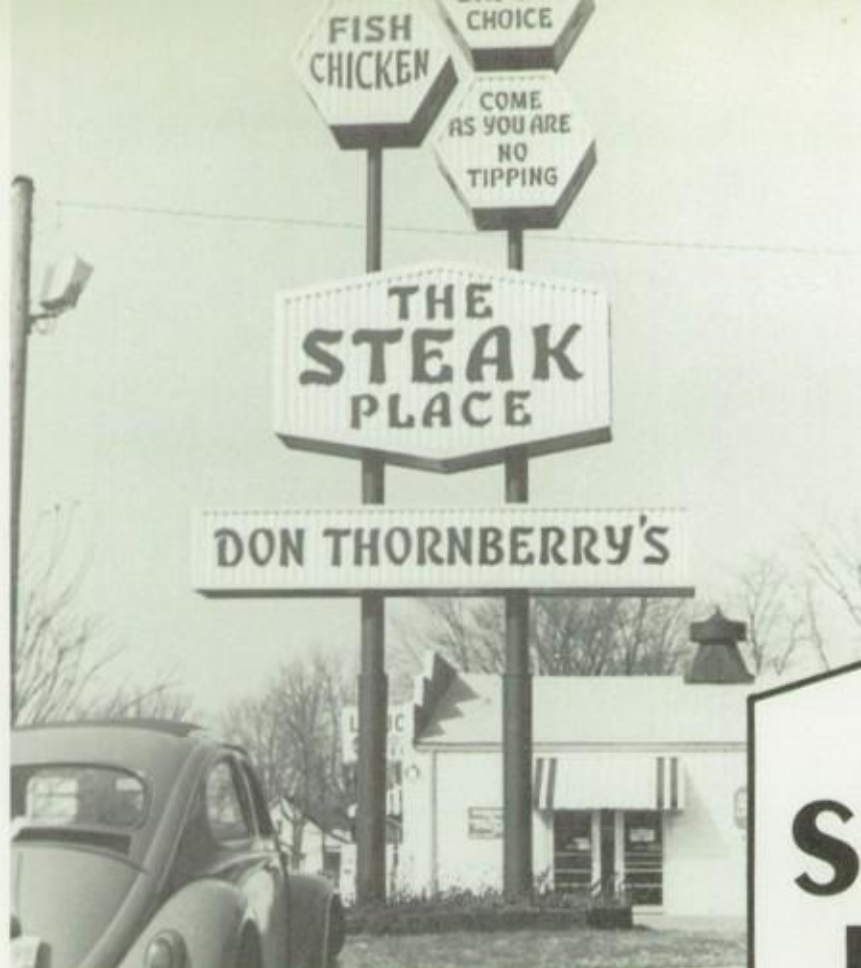

At Work

Hard work and no play is not the JROTC way, at least not all the time. In between the map reading, marksmanship, first aid, methods of instruction, evolution of warfare, tactics, leadership, and small unit problems and ceremonies, comes a few minutes of comradeship and a chance to slow down and enjoy good company. Why not join us next semester and find out what you have been missing?

At Play

ABOVE: Look for The Steak Place sign in Carmel, and stop in and have a bite.

Doesn't a big, thick, juicy steak sound good for tonight? Or how about some yummy fish, some fried chicken, or even a grilled hamburger made of 100% pure beef (NO soybean!)? Mr. Thornberry would love to have you come out and join them for dinner. The atmosphere is always friendly, so you can come as you are and bring the whole family. The Steak Place is located in Carmel, at 511 S. Range Line Road, 844-1166.

The Schmidt's Drug Store has moved, and in their progression, they changed their name to the King James Pharmacy.

KING JAMES

. . . Well, we are finally done. During a six day stay at the Ball State High School Journalism Workshop, five of the editors worked for many summer hours with the patient assistance of two of the workshops instructors, Miss Marion Breeden and Colonel Charles Savedge, to plan the 1974 NORTHERNER.

. . . Much appreciation and credit is due to all of the editors, staff assts., and photographers for not only working long hard hours, but also putting up with a certain editor's short temper. A special thanks must go to photographer Darby Dyar, who helped with the design of this page and suffered the hassles of being the lone female in the darkroom. The staff is especially grateful to all of the understanding teachers and friends who put up with us during the "deadline blues." We would like to thank Joe Henderson, who designed. (and thrice redesigned) the cover artwork.

. . . For understanding above and beyond the call of duty, we must thank Mr. Rod Cord, who withstood crying spells, temper tantrums and other various emotional releases. Much credit is due to Mr. Dick Kennard, our Newfoto representative, for answering many frantic questions and seeing that things were running smoothly. In addition, we would like to thank Chase Studios of New Albany, IN for photographing the underclassmen pictures, and also Ayres' Photo Reflex Studios for the senior portraits.

The NORTHERNER brought to those who contributed much more than work and headaches. We have learned what true friendship is. While working together, we have made lasting friendships.

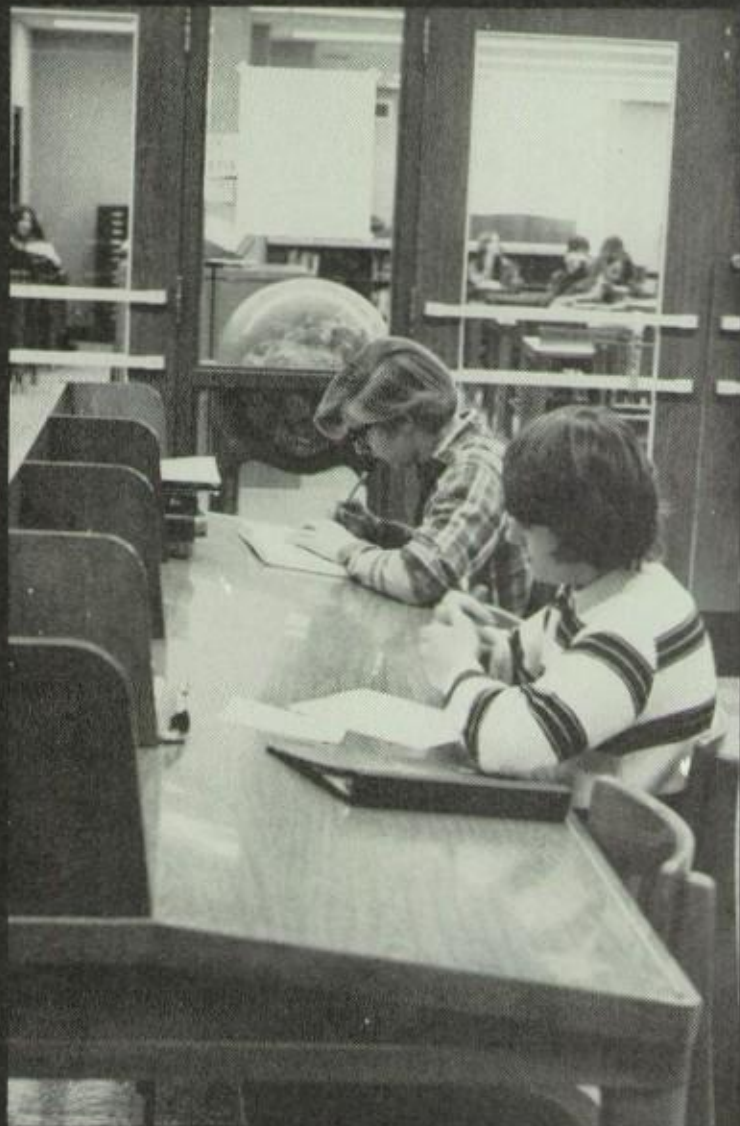

ABOVE: Physics students try to make their lives a little less miserable by working together.

They are the crowd. They are the students who yell the loudest. They are the ones who everyone talks about. They are the crowd that stands so far away that I feel alone in my own world.

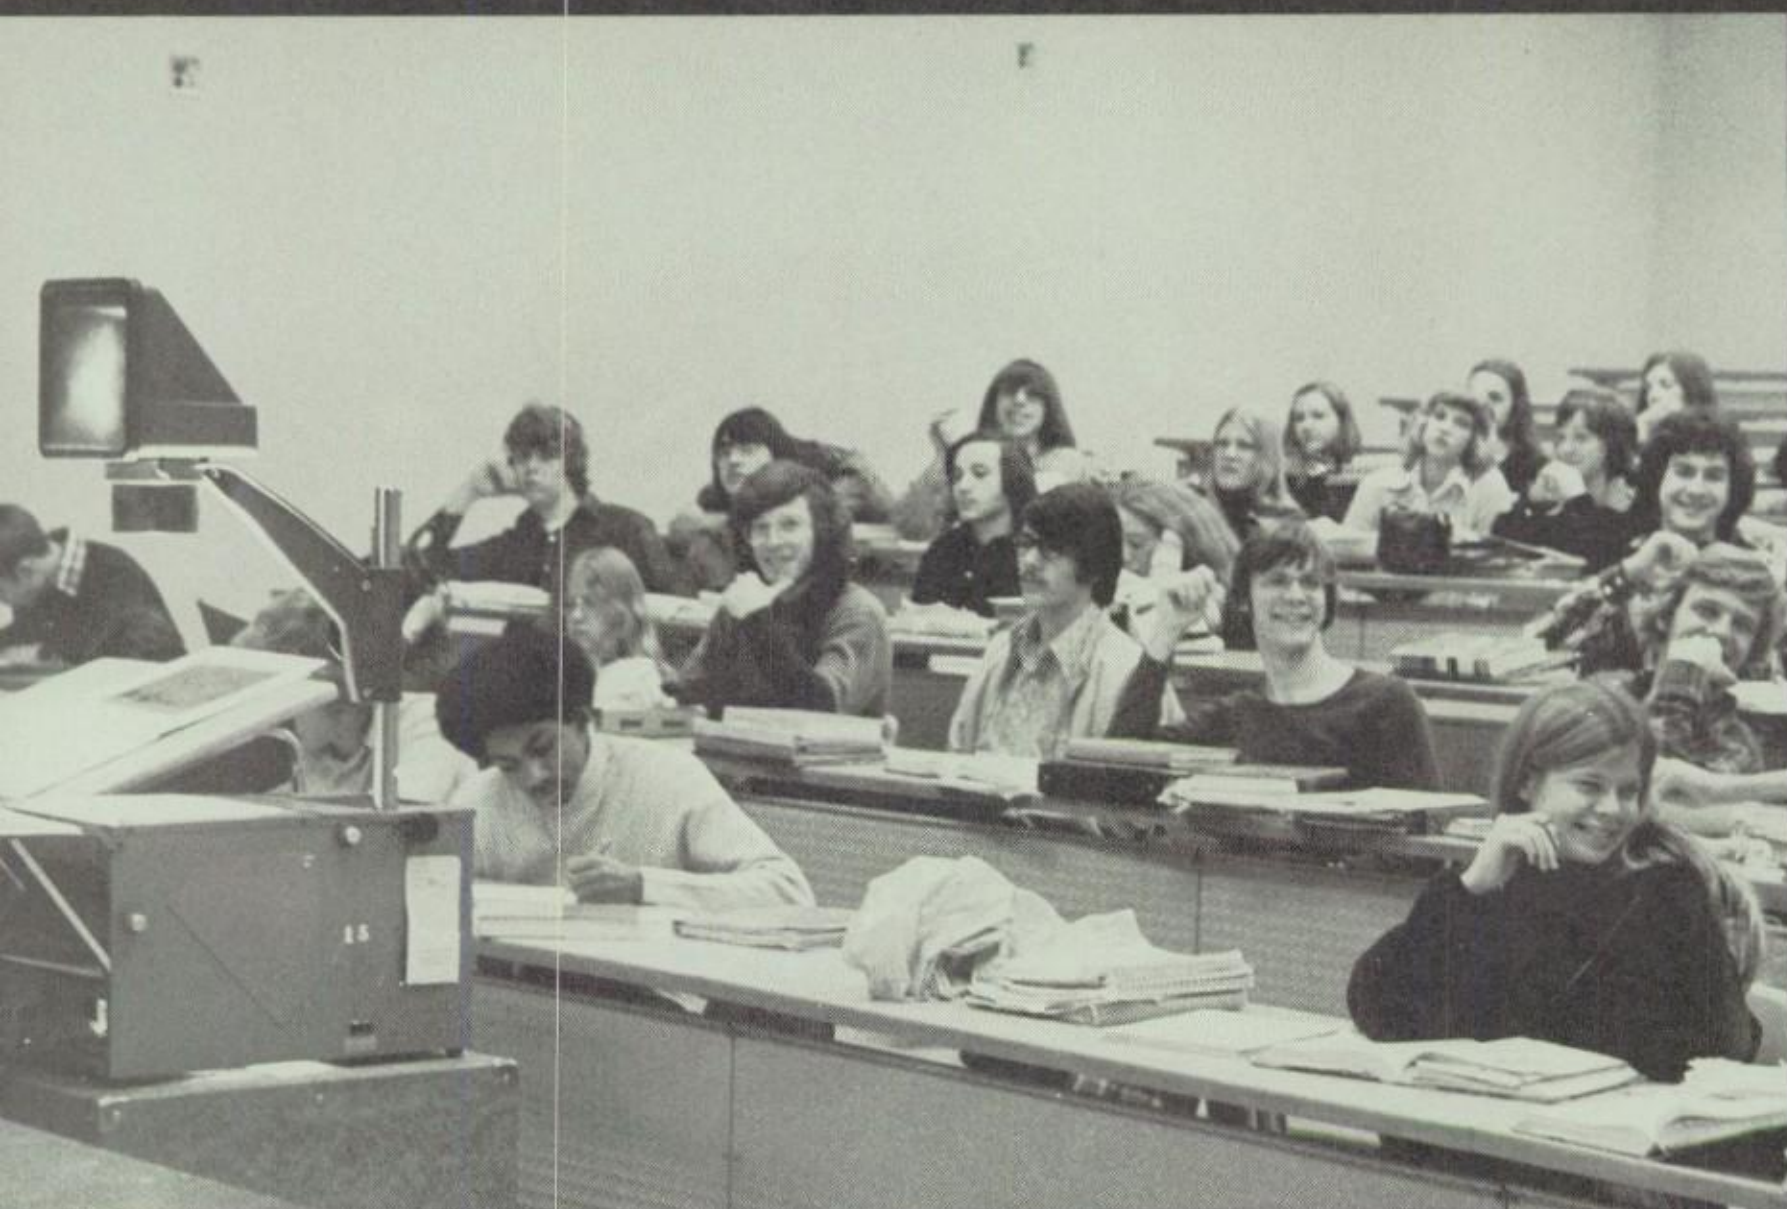

They are the jokers, the leaders, the screamers, the helpers, the teachers, the loners—The crowd that shows feeling; the crowd that can talk; the crowd that is a circus. They are all of us —We are the crowd.

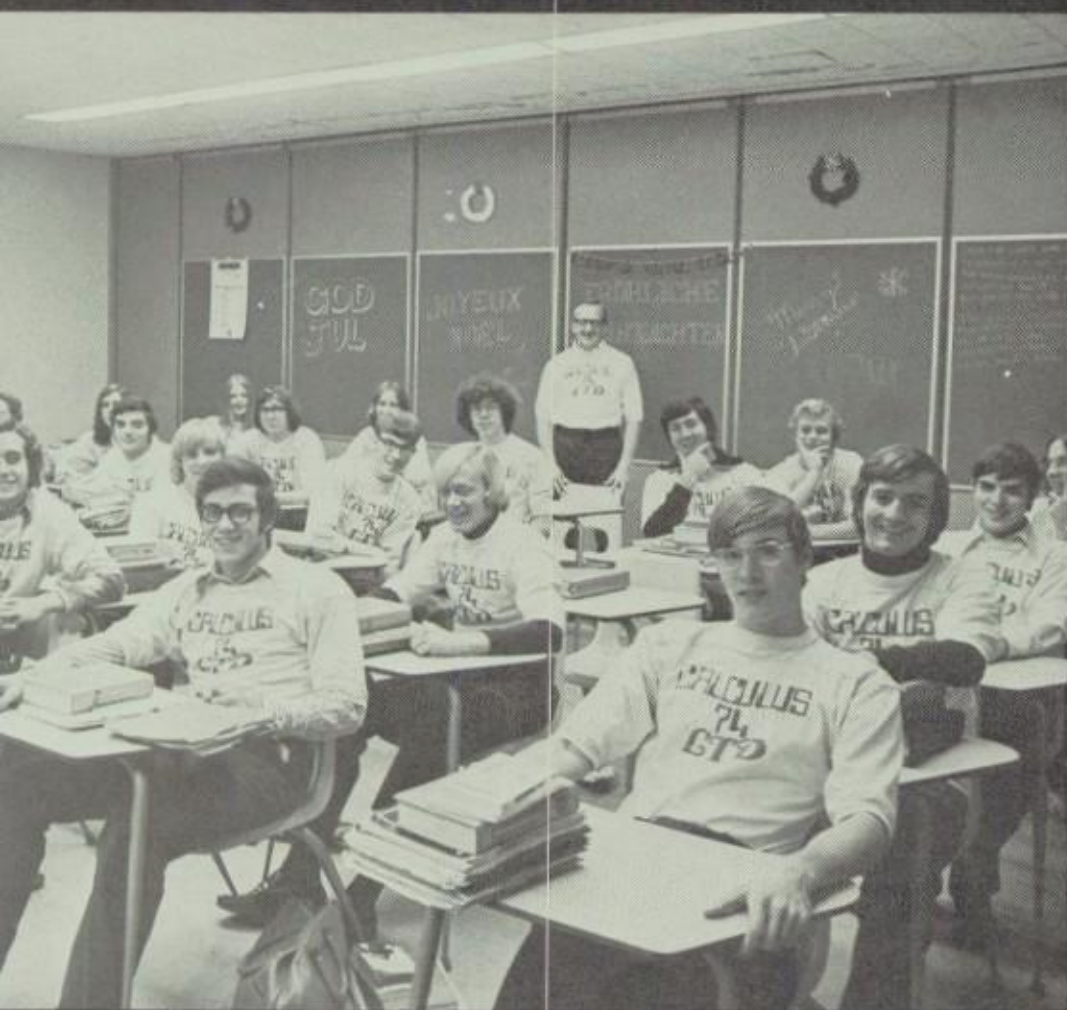

ABOVE: The library is often crowded with students when teachers ask their class to work on research projects.

RIGHT: Calculus students work together on many projects, including their class shirts and the decoration of the room.

ABOVE: Close to the end of Mr. Phares's chemistry lecture students find it difficult to pay close attention.

Them

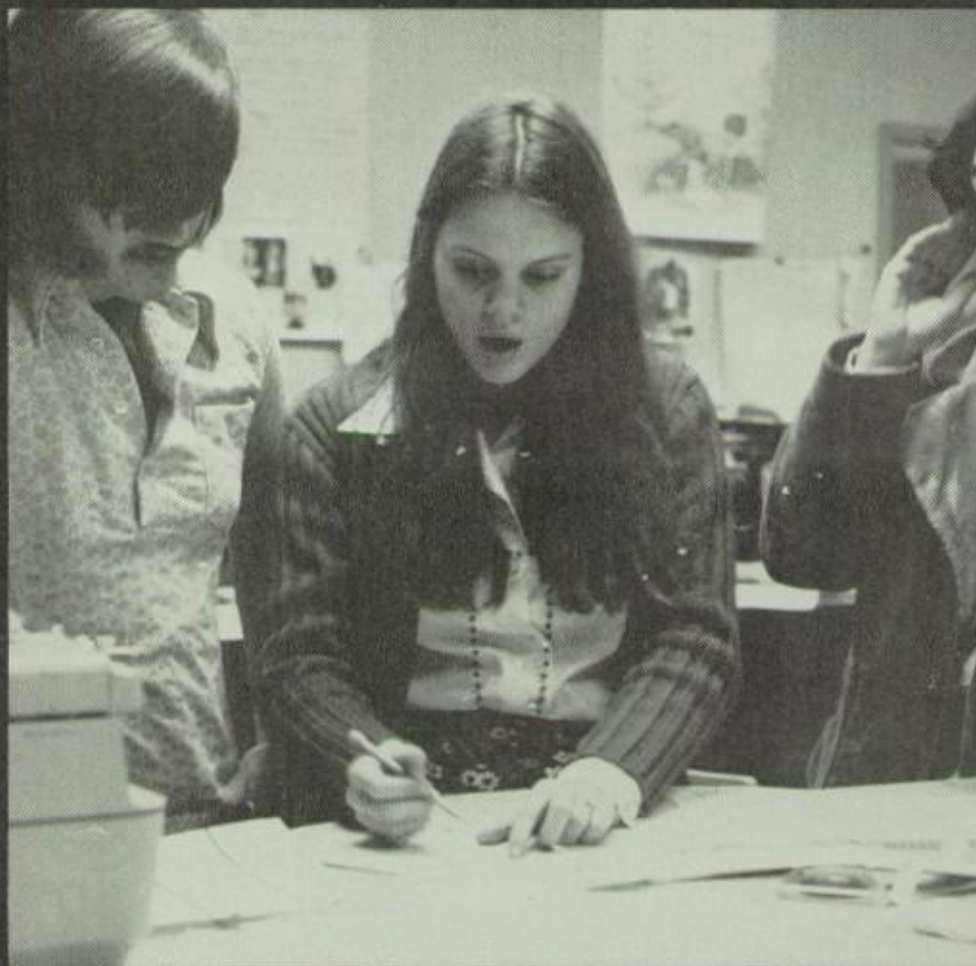

ABOVE: The score's tied and it's time for a conference of the G.A.A. Volleyball Team.

We are three to ten people who are all close friends. We are a sub-division of a crowd—We are a personal crowd.

Each of us shares most of our problems with one another. We have grown accustomed to one another's presence and dependability. We all know there will be someone available whom we can turn to with an immediate problem.

Every year our personal crowd changes a little. Someone moves; one person makes a new set of friends; and there is always someone who feels he doesn't need us anymore. He is off on his own, heading for a new life.

Us

LEFT: Botany students hurry to finish cleaning the lab before the bell rings.

ABOVE: "Son of Rude '74" ride their car in the Homecoming parade to help promote school spirit.

LEFT: Buying school supplies is not always the only reason for a visit to the bookstore. It's a great place to chat with your friends.

Me

I want to remain an individual. I do not want to be just one section of a 5000-piece puzzle. I want to remain myself. I want to become my own crowd.

When people are caught in a crowd, they slowly blend together. Each person forfeits a little of himself to become a part of the group. Everyone laughs at the same time, everyone walks at the same pace. The individuals unite into one being that has its own feelings—a crowd.

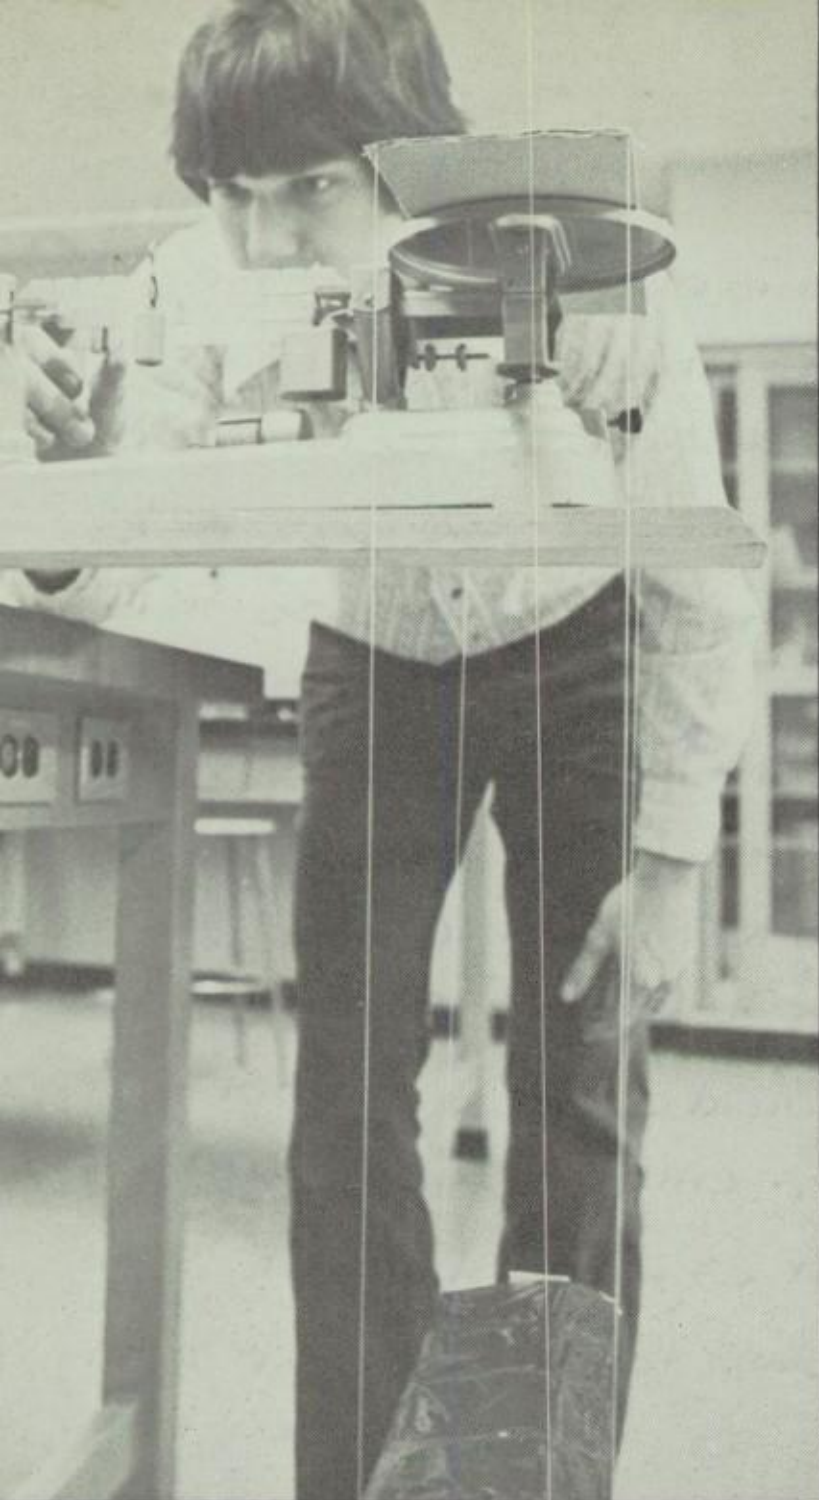

Is it nature that causes people to compromise with a crowd by giving up some of their own individuality? If the answer is yes, then I must build up my strength. I must defend my individuality. I am myself, my own crowd.

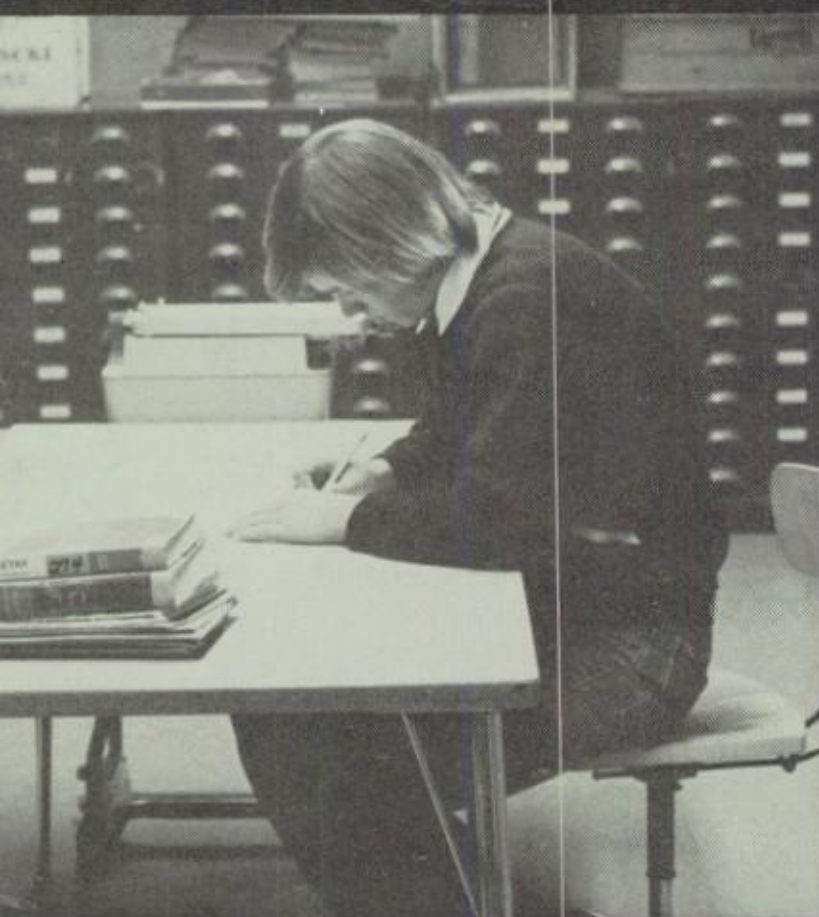

ABOVE: When the subject is interesting enough, students often become very involved.

Dear Steve,

Howdy! Just think how it all began one Saturday nite at a party. I didn't even know you and then all at once you were there. Remember the deal about the Grad dance "Are you sure?" about 50 times. I realized it was all true when you came up to see me at work Sunday after the nite. "What's your name again?" These past $2\frac{1}{2}$ almost 3 weeks have been super. All the Sun times so far... sleeping when I was sick, your cold for the track meet, Butler with the quackers and Fishy's, our 1st* date "Blazing Saddles" and the pyramids, the airport and never forget trying to find the track! Also there was the Northside (Magnum Force) I really enjoyed the movie! Oh, we can't forget Eagle Creek. I'm looking so forward to the Grad dance and just to be with you whenever we are together. (All the time would be nice, to nice!) I get so much out of every thing we do. It's hard not to. All the times we've been together so far seem like nothing could ever get in the way. It seems as though I've known you forever! What can I say except I'm so happy. I hope our future can be as great as our past has been. Never forget "Searching So Long" Bebe! I won't. All I can say now is THANKS so much and I LOVE you!!

OO

Love Always,

Michelle (your Baba)

BRIDGEFORD

Stacie,
I have a feeling it is going to be a
loony, interesting experiencing up. I refuse to wake you in the morning and
bring you back
to the room when you aren't in control of your faculties. No really
there it will be funny
I am looking forward to it. See you then.

I know + a lot
KBK. It was good, but you are so good, but you thank for just being you
Fellow basketball, call me
Sometime a we can talk a ride on the convertible
Love ya
Dana

You young --CKER, Remember Young Yaeger - that kids still after your ass - Well now I'll start - Do you remember -
1) Young Yaeger 2) KIT, FRIB, YOU, ME OUT AT THE TRACK - KIT CHUCKS ON ONE B. 3) WE EXAMINING THE NEW SUITES IN TURN 2 THEN
ALL RIGHT, HOLD RIGHT THERE! BRIDGE THOUGHT HE WAS NAILED WITH A CASE OF B IN HIS CAR,
4) REMEMBER WHEN BRIDGE, FRIB AND ME SLEPT OUT BACK OF THE HOLIDAY INN - THE DRUNK "WANT TO PLAY TACKLE". Well the Fing school year is over thank god. See you this summer.
Good Luck next year!

Steve Strach

Steve,

I've enjoyed having you in class. You are the brightest spots in the world of education. I'll always remember you.
Steve

Steve -
The first time I met you was when we were all were going to a basketball game but we never made it to the game. D.K. will be all for the better. Hope to get to talk to you at the Grad Dance. Love ya,
Dana

STEVE -
 WELL - I know you're a good student, got on the back team, your funny, nice - how do you really want me to tell you what I really think of you? No I am just kidding. Really. I am joking.
 Good luck at Miami. I really mean it. Oh ya did I tell you
 I am going to be a Botany teacher.
 HA, HA, - what a joke. Really.
 Good luck again.
 Ann Mullen

Steve.
 If you would ever strike
 you would be the fastest ever but anyway have fun + be good
 in any order of course
 Scott Phillips

Steve,
 you've got the most beautiful baby
 eyes I've ever seen.
 It was really nice
 to get to know
 you & I hope we stay
 friends at
 Good Luck at Miami
 of Ohio
 Love,
 Rhonda

-Steve-
BOY YOU'RE REALLY
OUT OF IT NOW.
YOU DRUNKARD.
ECON WAS A BORE.
BUT NOW IT'S ALL OVER. HOPE YOU HAVE FUN THIS SUMMER
DON'T DRINK TOO MUCH.
GOOD AT LUCK A MIAMI.

Rob
WEISSART

Steve,
I really had a lot of fun with you
this year. You're really a great guy. I'll explain to you something doesn't
I know that doesn't make sense. Oh well
I'll see ya this summer
~~Love ya~~
Love ya,
Zusie

Dearest Steve

well honor roll boy (never thought a friend of mine would be one). when are we going to build more models and drain 8 pots of coffee again?
Never I hope. we had a great time at N.C. thank God its over. I'd hate to go back and try to remember the two time we went to the qualifications. (chick in the ford) How can crazy are we any way? Since your school doesn't start till the end of sept. come down to I.U. and party with me. see you driving around this summer (sober of course)

Steve,

I hate signing yearbooks
but since you're so persistent
I'll make an exception.
Would hit Romp. would have been a real drag without you. I'm glad you were in there 'cause if you weren't
I wouldn't have met you.

I can't really say much else 'cause I know no matter what you do it turns out right. I mean how many people can get drunk at a party, ask a girl to the grad
dance, and end up liking
her. Lucky!

We'll have to get together this summer and get (you-know)-what.

Love,
Ellen J.

Steve,

Good Luck in college and come by (aren't some time.

Love,
